STATISTICS OF CANADA.

INTRODUCTION.

VOLUME FOURTH.

This volume contains the summaries of Censuses, taken at different periods, in and for the territories now constituting the British North American Provinces.

The official documents summarised in the volume number 98, and are thus divided in respect to the territories included in the Provinces as now constituted, namely: 25 for Quebec; 22 for Ontario; 16 for Nova Scotia; 10 for Manitoba; 10 for Newfoundland; 8 for New Brunswick; 6 for Prince Edward Island, and 1 for British Columbia.

The first in date of these Censuses is that of 1665. This enumeration, and those by which it is immediately succeeded, are the earliest nominal Censuses whose results are now known.

The tables of this volume contain the information afforded by official documents, manuscript or printed, preserved in libraries and amongst the Public Archives, but classified and arranged uniformly so as to be easily consulted.

Naturally, the corrections which have been made in this compilation refer only to mistakes in printing or calculation and not to the information itself which has been given as it was obtained. It is scarcely necessary to state that amongst the mass of information recorded in this work, some parts of it are valuable only from the use which may be made of it in critical statistics.

Of this kind, for instance, are the reports of marriages, births and deaths, the ascertaining of which is not part of the work of enumeration, but belongs to the daily operations of registration. For this reason Censuses have always failed in this respect. Yet the examination of these returns is not altogether useless, inasmuch as it affords a criterion of the comparative correctness of certain series of facts collected in such investigation.

STATISTIQUES DU CANADA.

INTRODUCTION.

QUATRIÈME VOLUME.

Ce volume contient les résumés des Recensements exécutés à diverses époques, dans et pour les territoires qui constituent aujourd'hui les Provinces Britanniques du Nord-Amérique.

Les documents officiels résumés dans le corps du volume sont au nombre de 98, ainsi partagés, eu égard aux territoires compris dans les Provinces telles qu'aujourd'hui constituées, savoir : 25 pour Québec ; 22 pour Ontario ; 16 pour la Nouvelle-Ecosse ; 10 pour Manitoba ; 10 pour Terreneuve ; 8 pour le Nouveau-Brunswick ; 6 pour l'Isle du Prince-Edouard et 1 pour la Colombie Britannique.

Le premier en date de ces recensements est celui de 1665. Ce dénombrement et ceux qui le suivent immédiatement sont les plus anciens recensements nominaux dont les résultats soient aujourd'hui connus.

Les Tableaux de ce volume renferment les données offertes par les documents officiels, soit manuscrits soit imprimés, que conservent les bibliothèques et les archives publiques, mais classées et arrangées d'une manière uniforme et de facile consultation. Naturellement, les corrections faites, dans cette compilation, ne portent que sur des erreurs d'impression ou de calcul et non sur les renseignements eux-mêmes qui ont dû être reproduits tels que fournis. Il est à peine nécessaire de faire remarquer que, parmi le nombre considérable de renseignements consignés dans ce livre, il y en a plusieurs qui n'ont de valeur que celle que peut en tirer la critique statistique.

De ce genre, par exemple, sont les rapports des mariages, naissances et décès, dont la constatation n'est point une opération de l'ordre des dénombrements, mais appartient aux procédés d'un enrégistrement journalier ; aussi les recensements ont toujours failli sur ce point ; cependant, l'examen de ces retours n'est point tout-à-fait inutile, en ce qu'il offre un criterium du plus ou moins grand degré d'exactitude apporté dans la collection de certains faits, matières de l'enquête.

The summaries of the Censuses which constitute this volume furnish, besides the figures which form its essence, a statement of the names of the territorial divisions of the settled lands at each period of the history of the colonization of the vast regions of North America. A list of these names of places, Alphabetical and Chronological, will be found at the end of the volume.

Apart from the Censuses, properly so called, there exist in the documents relating to different periods of our history, Statements of Population, more or less correct, furnished to the central governments by the colonial authorities of the time, or collected by contemporary writers. It will not be uninteresting to refer to these statements in this INTRODUCTION, as complementary to the numerical history of the country to be found in the detailed enumerations.

At the present day it appears strange that the first two attempts at colonization made in the northern part of the American continent should have fixed upon Sable Island, now used as a beacon station on which the Canadian Government maintain two lighthouses, and stores of provision in case of shipwrecks. It was in 1518 that the Baron de Léry made the first of these attempts at settlement, whose only result was leaving on this desert island a few horses, cattle and rabbits, which multiplied in a wild state. These animals, with the produce of fishing, were the only means of subsistence for the settlers of the second colonizing expedition, whom M. de la Roche placed on this island in 1578, and they have since been a valuable assistance to distressed seamen and fishermen.

Of the animals thus transplanted at the beginning of the sixteenth century, there remain only the rabbits, which have so multiplied that the island has become a warren, and the horses, which appear to maintain themselves in a troop of about 150 in number. The cattle disappeared several years ago, the herd having become extinct by the repeated attacks of the crews of fishing vessels. It will be seen that this inhospitable island, this bank of sand lost in the ocean, has its historical as well as its legendary recollections.

There is no room to mention, in speaking of colonization, the annual voyages of the Basque, Breton and other fishermen, and their short summer stay on the Island of Newfoundland and on the lower St. Lawrence, several years before the expeditions of Jacques Cartier. This INTRODUCTION is not intended for a general history of the country, but is, as it were, the abridged history of Canadian Population Statistics.

Previous to the foundation of Port Royal, Acadia, in 1605, by de Monts and Poutrincourt; of Quebec, New France, in 1608, by Champlain; of St. John's, Newfoundland, by Whitburn, in 1613; there may be noticed the ephemeral settlements of Roberval at Cap Rouge, near Quebec, from 1542 to 1543; of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, in Newfoundland, in 1583; of Chauvin, at Tadoussac, in 1599, and others.

At the date of what may be called the real history of European settlements upon the territory of the present Canadian Confederation, the successful attempts at colonization had very modest beginnings, constantly impeded by the political condition of the parent states, and by the wars in which the colonizing nations and the colonists themselves were engaged.

Les résumés de recensement qui constituent ce volume fournissent, en même temps que les données chiffrées qui en forment l'essence, l'exposé des noms des divisions territoriales qui se partageaient le pays habité, à chaque époque de l'histoire de la colonisation des vastes régions du Nord-Amérique. Une liste à la fois alphabétique et chronologique de ces noms de lieux se trouve à la fin du volume.

A part les Recensements proprement dits, il existe, dans les documents relatifs aux diverses périodes de notre histoire, des Etats de Population plus ou moins corrects fournis aux Métropoles par les autorités coloniales du temps ou recueillis par des écrivains contemporains. Il ne sera pas sans intérêt de faire, dans cette INTRODUCTION, mention de ces états, comme complément à l'histoire numérique du pays, telle qu'inscrite dans les dénombrements détaillés.

Il parait aujourd'hui très singulier que les deux premières tentatives de colonisation faites dans la partie nord du continent Américain aient eu pour objectif l'Isle de Sable, aujourd'hui station d'alarme et de secours, où le gouvernement Canadien entretient deux feux pour éclairer la navigation et des dépots de provisions en cas de naufrages. Ce fut en 1518 que le Baron de Léry fit la première de ces tentatives d'établissement, qui n'eut pour résultat que de laisser sur cette Isle déserte quelques chevaux, quelques têtes de bétail et des lapins qui se sont multipliés à l'état sauvage. Ces animaux furent, avec la pêche, les seuls moyens de subsistance des colons de la seconde expédition colonisatrice que M. de la Roche déposa sur cette Isle, en 1578, comme ils ont offert depuis une précieuse ressource aux navigateurs et pêcheurs en détresse.

Il ne reste aujourd'hui, des animaux ainsi transplantés au commencement du 16e siècle, que des lapins qui ont fait garenne et des chevaux dont la troupe semble se maintenir au chiffre d'environ 150; le bétail a, depuis plusieurs années, disparu, le troupeau ayant fini par s'éteindre par l'effet des chasses répétées, exécutées par les équipages des navires de pêche. On voit que cette Isle inhospitalière, ce banc de sable perdu dans l'océan, a son histoire comme aussi sa légende.

Il n'y a pas lieu de mentionner, en parlant de colonisation, les voyages annuels et le séjour momentané pendant l'été des pêcheurs basques, bretons, et autres, à l'Isle de Terreneuve et dans le bas du fleuve St. Laurent, plusieurs années avant les expéditions de Jacques Cartier; on ne fait pas, dans cette INTRODUCTION, l'histoire générale du pays, mais l'histoire abrégé de la statistique de la population canadienne.

Jusqu'à la fondation de Port Royal d'Acadie, en 1605, par de Monts et Poutrincourt; de Québec, en la Nouvelle-France, en 1608, par Champlain; de Saint Jean de Terreneuve, par Whitburn, en 1613; on compte encore les établissements éphémères de Roberval, au Cap Rouge, près Québec, de 1542 à 1543; de Sir Humphrey Gilbert, à Terreneuve, en 1583; de Chauvin, à Tadoussac, en 1599; et autres.

Les essais de colonisation réussis, de l'époque desquels date l'histoire proprement dite de l'établissement des Européens sur le territoire de la Confédération Canadienne d'aujourd'hui, ont eu de bien modestes commencements qu'entravaient sans cesse les préoccupations de la politique générale des métropoles et les guerres continuelles que se faisaient les nations colonisatrices et les colons eux-mêmes. Pour compléter donc, comme on vient de le dire, la statistique de notre pays telle qu'elle nous a été transmise dans les documents du

To complete, then, as we have just said, the statistics of our country as they are to be found in the documents of the time, it is well to add to the summaries contained in the body of this volume a general statement of the numerical information in addition to and in the absence of, what may be called in the strict sense of the term, Censuses.

The Chronological statement of this information, and of the amount of the population ascertained by enumeration at different periods, accompanied by the indication of the sources whence it has been drawn, and the remarks necessary to understanding it as a whole, is the principal subject of this INTRODUCTION to the contents of this volume, and is indeed, their necessary complement.

No one can fail to remark how slight were the beginnings of colonization in this country, or how slowly and through what vicissitudes the settlement of these vast territories proceeded.

The first in date of the Colonies which became successful, and which consequently marked the starting point of European settlements on our soil, was the foundation of Port Royal, Acadia. The year in which it was founded is, therefore, the date at which the following statement begins :

1605—Port Royal founded.—44 settlers surviving of the 79 persons who had wintered on Ile Sainte-Croix during the preceding winter.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome III., pages 41, 42 & 78.)

1608—Quebec founded.—28 settlers wintered there, including Champlain.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome III., page 173.)

1613—St. John's, Newfoundland, founded.—62 persons wintered, who had been left by Whitburn.
(The British Empire in America, Vol. I. page 7.)

In the first relation of the Jesuits (Relation de 1611, Vol. I., page 15, Edition Canadienne,) will be found an estimate of the Indian population of the territories now constituting Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, the State of Maine, Parts of others of the New England States and the Lower Saint-Lawrence, as follows :

All the Souriquois.....	3,000 to 3,500
The Eteminquois as far as Pentagoet.....	2,500
From Pentagoet to Kinibequi and Chouacoet	3,000
The Montagnets (a tribe of the Algic race inhabiting the highlands of New England)	1,000
	10,000

1620—Population of Quebec : 60 persons.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome VI., page 8.)

1622—Wintered at Newfoundland with Captain Wynn, 32 persons.
(The British Empire in America, Vol. I., pages 10 & 11.)

1628—Population of New France, 76, who wintered, including 20 French and the Missionary returning from the Hurons.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome VI., pages 205 & 231.)

temps, il convient d'ajouter, aux résumés des recensements contenus dans le corps de ce volume, un exposé général des principales données numériques acquises en dehors et en l'absence des recensements proprement dits.

L'exposé chronologique de ces renseignements et du chiffre de la population constatée d'époque en époque par les dénombrements, accompagné de l'indication des sources où l'on a puisé, et des remarques nécessaires à l'intelligence de tout l'ensemble, est le sujet principal de cette INTRODUCTION à la matière de ce volume et son complément obligé.

On ne manquera pas de remarquer combien ont été faibles les commencements de colonisation de ce pays, avec quelle lenteur et à travers quelles vicissitudes l'établissement de ces vastes territoires a procédé.

La première en date des fondations colonisatrices qui ont fini par réussir et celle qui, par conséquent, a marqué le point de départ des établissements Européens sur notre sol, a été la fondation de Port Royal d'Acadie : c'est donc à l'année de cette fondation que doit commencer l'exposé qui va suivre.

1605—Port Royal fondé.—44 colons survivants des soixante dix-neuf personnes qui avaient hiverné à l'Isle Sainte-Croix, l'hiver précédent.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome III, pages 41, 42 et 78.)

1608—Québec fondé.—28 colons hivernants, y compris Champlain.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome III, page 173)

1613—St. Jean de Terreneuve fondé.—62 hivernants laissés par Whitburn.
(The British Empire in America Vol. I. page 7.)

On trouve dans la première relation des Jésuites (Relation de 1611, Vol. I, p. 15, Edition Canadienne,) un estimé de la population sauvage des territoires qui constituent aujourd'hui la Nouvelle-Ecosse, le Nouveau-Brunswick, l'Etat du Maine, une partie des autres Etats de la Nouvelle-Angleterre et le bas du fleuve St. Laurent, comme suit :

Tous les Souriquois	3,000 à 3,500
Les Eteminquois jusqu'à Pentegoët	2,500
De Pentegoët à Kinibequi et Chouacoët	3,000
Les Montagnets (tribus de race algique habitant les montagnes de la Nouvelle-Angleterre)	1,000
	10,000

1620—Population de Québec : 60 personnes.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome VI, page 8.)

1622—Hivernants avec le Capitaine Wynn, à Terreneuve, 32 personnes.
(The British Empire in America, Vol. I, pages 10 et 11.)

1628—Population de la Nouvelle-France, y compris 20 Francais et le Missionnaire revenant du Pays des Hurons : 76 hivernants.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome VI, pages 205 et 231.)

1629—After the taking of Quebec, about 117 persons wintered, 90 of these being English belonging to Kertk's Expedition.
(Champlain, Edition Laverdière, tome VI., page 320.)
(Relations and Parish Registers of the time.)

1641—The sedentary population of New France was still only 240, at the end of the year.
(Dollier, Edition 1868, page 31.—Relation de 1642, page 36.)

1653—Population of New France about 2,000.
(Mère Marie de l'Incarnation.—Lettres Historiques XLVIII.)

1663—Population of New France: 2,500, of whom 800 were in Quebec. The public debt was about 200,000 livres ; the Customs tariff was raised to 10 per cent ad valorem on all merchandise.
(Leclercq, Edition 1691, Vol. II., pages 4 & 66.—Boucher, Edition Canadienne, page 61.)

The sailors of the numerous fishing vessels and merchant ships which at this period frequented the island, are not included in the statements relating to the population of Newfoundland. It will be observed (page 26 of this volume) that the number of English vessels, in 1692, amounted to 110. The fact of there being a resident and a floating population explains the singular coincidences and variations from year to year of the figures furnished by these documents.

A Memoir deposited among the Archives of Paris gives a Census of the Indian population in the territories now comprised in the following geographical divisions:—

IN BRITISH AMERICA.—Part of the Territory drained by the River St. John, in New Brunswick; the Province of Quebec, from Quebec Westward; the Province of Ontario; the Province of Manitoba and part of the North-West Territory.

IN THE UNITED STATES.—The States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Western Virginia, and part of Virginia and Maryland, with the Territory of Dakota.

The Indians of this vast extent of territory were estimated to number 15,875 warriors, which supposes a total population of about 79,375.

1737—Population of New France: 39,970, made up as follows: MARRIED.—men, 7,378; women, 6,804. UNMARRIED.—Males, 13,330; females, 12,458.

French population of the Acadian Mainland (New Brunswick): 1,000.

French population of St. John Island (Prince Edward): 1,000.

It is necessary here to insert a table showing the sudden movements of the French Acadian population from 1749 to 1771, the period of the misfortunes and partial expulsion of this population. This table is partly compiled from the figures given in the memoirs of the time, and partly by estimates deduced from the whole information accessible. Without such a table it would be almost impossible to understand the migrations of this small

Un Mémoire déposé aux Archives de Paris, offre un recensement de la population sauvage des territoires aujourd'hui compris dans les divisions géographiques suivantes :

Dans l'Amérique Britannique.—Partie du territoire arrosé par la Rivière Saint-Jean, dans le Nouveau-Brunswick ; la Province de Québec, de Québec à l'ouest ; la Province d'Ontario ; la Province de Manitoba et partie du territoire du Nord-Ouest.

Dans les Etats-Unis.—Les Etats de New-York ; de Pensylvanie ; d'Ohio, d'Indiana, de Michigan, de Wisconsin, d'Illinois, d'Iowa, de Minnesota, de Nebraska, de Kansas, de Missouri, d'Arkansas, de Kentucky, de Tennessee, de la Virginie Occidentale, et partie de la Virginie et du Maryland, avec le territoire du Dakota.

Les Sauvages de cette vaste étendue de territoire sont évalués à 15,875 guerriers, ce qui suppose une population totale d'environ 79,375.

Ici doit prendre place un tableau des brusques mouvements de la population française Acadienne de 1749 à 1771, époque des malheurs et de l'expulsion partielle de cette population. Ce tableau est formé en partie de chiffres donnés par les mémoires du temps et en partie par des estimés déduits de l'ensemble des renseignements. Sans un pareil tableau il population, which in spite of all, amounted in 1871 to 77,740 souls in the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick; about 15,000 in Prince Edward Island, besides an unknown but comparatively considerable number of descendants in the Province of Quebec, and several thousands in different parts of the United States, in the West India Islands and in France.

The figures of this table are given in round numbers, so as not to give them the appearance of an exactitude which there are no means of attaining; but they are, on the whole, correct, and show in their principal details the statistics of this part of the history, as difficult as it is interesting, of the colonization of the country.

For the proper understanding of these statistics, which have so greatly interested writers of different nations, it is necessary to recall, in a few words and in chronological order, the events which during so long a period have made this small Acadian people, the first colonizers of British North America, the sport of misfortune.

The capture of Port Royal, (Annapolis) in 1710, and the cession of the Acadian Peninsula (Nova Scotia) by the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713 brought the population of this part of the Acadian territory under British rule. The Acadians of the North of the Peninsula, holding the position of neutrals, continued to clear their lands, to reclaim fertile marshes from the sea, and to increase in number from the double cause of the natural increase and the immigration from the south and south-east coasts.

The first capture of Louisbourg by the English took place in 1745; and the settlers of Isle Royale (Cape Breton) were sent from the Island. By the Treaty of Aix La Chapelle in 1748, Cape Breton was restored to France and the work of colonizing again began. In 1749, the British Government which, until then, had maintained Nova Scotia merely as a military colony, began to settle the country, and the Acadians of the Peninsula, the Neutrals, began to emigrate to Cape Breton and other French territories in the vicinity. In 1755, took place the banishment of 6,000 Acadians and the destruction of the properties belonging to the French inhabitants of the Peninsula. In 1758, the British, having taken possession of Louisbourg, a part of the population of Cape Breton was sent to France, others sought refuge in French territory, and a certain number of settlers remained dispersed along the coasts.

From 1758 to 1763, the period of the cession to England of the whole of the the North American Continent, the Acadians lived in constant alarm, harassed by continued removals, and in a state of wretchedness.

From about 1763 to 1765 the great majority of the Acadians of St. John Island were driven from their properties and obliged to seek refuge in the neighbouring coasts and in Canada. During this same period a certain number of Acadians who had been banished to Massachusetts obtained permission to return to Nova Scotia.

About 1771 these unhappy communities recovered comparative peace: nevertheless, in 1784, the Acadians of the St. John River were in turn expelled from their lands, which were given to the United Empire Loyalists. It was at that time the flourishing Acadian settlements at Madawaska were founded. This last expropriation does not appear to have hindered the progress of the Acadian population.

est à peu près impossible de se rendre compte des migrations de ce petit peuple qui, en dépit de tout, en 1871, comptait 77,740 âmes dans les Provinces de la Nouvelle-Ecosse et du Nouveau-Brunswick, environ 15,000 dans l'Isle du Prince-Edouard, plus un chiffre inconnu, mais comparativement considérable de descendants dans la Province de Québec, et plusieurs milliers dans diverses parties des Etats-Unis, dans les Iles des Indes Occidentales et en France.

Les chiffres de ce tableau sont fournis en nombres ronds, afin de ne pas leur donner l'apparence d'une précision à laquelle il n'y a pas moyen d'atteindre; mais ils sont, en somme, corrects et font connaître, dans ses principaux éléments, la statistique de cette partie, aussi difficile qu'elle est émouvante, de l'histoire de la colonisation du pays. Pour l'intelligence de ce sujet qui a intéressé, à un si haut degré, des écrivains de diverses nations, il est nécessaire de rappeler, par ordre de dates, en quelques mots, les évènements qui, pendant si longtemps, ont fait le jouet de l'infortune du petit peuple Acadien, le premier colonisateur du Nord-Amérique Britannique.

La Prise de Port-Royal (Annapolis) en 1710, puis la cession de la péninsule Acadienne (Nouvelle-Ecosse) par le traité d'Utrecht, en 1713, fit passer la population de cette partie du pays acadien sous le pouvoir de l'Angleterre. Les Acadiens du Nord de la Péninsule, occupant la position de neutres, continuèrent à défricher des terres, à conquérir sur la mer des prairies fertiles et à augmenter en nombre par le double fait de l'accroissement naturel et de l'immigration venant des côtes sud et sud-est.

En 1745 eut lieu la première prise de Louisbourg par les Anglais; les colons de l'Isle Royale (Cap Breton) furent renvoyés de l'Isle. Par le traité d'Aix-la-Chapelle en 1748, le Cap-Breton fut rendu à la France et on recommença à le coloniser. En 1749, le Gouvernement Anglais qui, jusque là, n'avait fait de la Nouvelle-Ecosse qu'une colonie militaire, commença à établir le pays, et dès lors les Acadiens de la Péninsule, les neutres, commencèrent à émigrer vers la Cap-Breton et les autres terres françaises du voisinage. En 1755 eut lieu le bannissement de 6,000 Acadiens et la destruction des propriétés de la population française de la Péninsule. En 1758, les Anglais s'étant emparé de Louisbourg, une partie de la population du Cap-Breton fut renvoyée en France, quelques uns se réfugièrent sur le territoire français voisin, un certain nombre de colons restèrent dispersés le long des côtes de l'Isle.

De 1758 à 1763, époque de la cession à l'Angleterre de toute la partie nord du Continent Américain, les Acadiens vécurent dans des alarmes et des déplacements continuels et dans la misère.

De 1763 à 1765 environ, la grande majorité des Acadiens de l'Isle Saint-Jean furent chassés de leurs propriétés et obligés de se réfugier à la côte voisine et en Canada. Durant cette même période, un certain nombre d'Acadiens, exilés dans le Massachusett, eurent permission de revenir à la Nouvelle-Ecosse.

Vers 1771, ces malheureuses populations recouvrèrent une paix relative; cependant, en 1784, les Acadiens de la Rivière Saint-Jean furent à leur tour expulsés de leurs terres qu'on donna aux United Empire Loyalists, ce fut alors que furent formés les beaux établissements Acadiens de Madaouaska. Cette dernière expropriation, toutefois, ne paraît pas avoir eu d'influence sur les progrès de la population Acadienne.

What is here called the District of Gedaïc (now Shediac) includes the north bank of Chignitou Bay, or Beaubassin, and the Eastern Shores, from the line now separating Nova Scotia from New Brunswick in the Isthmus, to Richibucto. By the term, Shores of the Gulf, is designated all that part of New Brunswick extending from Richibucto to the Miscou and Shippegan Islands; and the term, Bay des Chaleurs, means only the south shore of that Bay, part of New Brunswick.

The figures in the first two columns, 1749 and 1755, are taken from several records, but principally from a memoir of 1748, deposited in the Archives of Paris, and a memoir of the Abbé de l'Isle Dieu of 1754. The total for 1755 is the total carried from 1749, with the addition of the natural increase at the rate of 2.5 per cent. per annum, the normal rate of the Acadians when left to themselves.

The first memoir shows the number of communicants on the Acadian Peninsula to have been 8,850 in 1748, equivalent to about 13,000 souls. The same memoir speaks of 15 or 20 families at St. John River; a few families from the south joined these soon after. This information is, on the whole, confirmed by Lafargue, in his "Geographical History of Nova Scotia," published in London in 1749.

These 13,000 inhabitants appear to have been thus distributed on the Acadian Peninsula: at Port Royal, 1,500; at Rivière aux Canards, 900; at Grand Pré, 1,500; at Ce qu'on appelle ici le District de Gédaïc (Chédiac) comprend la Rive Nord de la Baie de Chignitou ou le Beaubassin, et les Côtes Est, depuis la ligne qui sépare aujourd'hui la Nouvelle-Ecosse du Nouveau-Brunswick, dans l'Isthme, jusqu'à Richibouctou ; les Côtes du Golfe désignent toute cette partie du Nouveau-Brunswick qui s'étend de Richibouctou aux Isles Miscou et Chipâgan, enfin la Baie-des-Chaleurs ne veut dire ici que la Rive sud de cette Baie, la partie du Nouveau-Brunswick.

Les chiffres des deux premières colonnes, 1749 et 1755, sont déduits de plusieurs données ; mais principalement d'un mémoire de 1748, et du mémoire de l'abbé de l'Isle-Dieu, de 1754. Le chiffre total de 1755 est le report du chiffre total de 1749, avec addition de l'augmentation naturelle au taux de 2.5 par cent par an, taux normal du peuple Acadien laissé à lui-même.

Le premier mémoire porte à 8,850 le chiffre des communiants de la Péninsule acadienne de 1748, ce qui équivaut à environ 13,000 âmes ; ce même mémoire parle de 15 à 20 familles à la Rivière Saint-Jean ; quelques familles du sud les rejoignirent peu après. Ces renseignements sont, en somme, confirmés par Lafargue, dans son Histoire Géographique de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, publiée à Londres, en 1749.

Voici comment parait avoir été distribué ce chiffre de 13,000 habitants de la Péninsule Acadienne : à Port Royal, 1,500 ; à la Rivière aux Canards, 900 ; à Grand Pré 1,500 ; à Pipi-Pipiguit, 2,700; at Cobequit, 1,200; from thence and on Beaubassin, 3,700; and finally in the other parts of the Peninsula, 1,500. The memoir of 1748 has included this last mentioned population with that of Port Royal.

The memoir of the Abbé de l'Isle Dieu (Paris Archives) gives for 1754 the number of 6,318 Acadians settled in the northern part of the Peninsula; 2,897 in the northern and western parts of Beaubassin; 2,868 in St. John Island; in all, 12,083 inhabitants in 1754, without counting the populations of the southern and eastern shores of the Peninsula, of Isle Royale, of the north-east shores, of the Bay of Chaleurs, and of the St. John River. The same memoir, speaking of 1754, fixes the total population of the Peninsula at 9,215 inhabitants: that population was then sending emigrants north.

An English memoir, published in London in 1751, under the title of "The Importance of Colonizing and Fortifying Nova Scotia," estimates at "nearly four thousand" the total number of French in Old Acadia fit to bear arms—evidently an exaggeration, but showing that this population was close upon that number. In fact, the whole Acadian people must have amounted in 1751, to about 3,500 men old enough to bear arms. Governor Lawrence, of Halifax, in his Circular addressed to the different Governors in August, 1755 (Archives of the Historical Society of Nova Scotia, reproduced in Haliburton's "Nova Scotia," Vol. I., page 329 and onwards), estimates at nearly 7,000 persons the Acadian inhabitants of the northern parts of the Peninsula whom it was intended to transport to the British Colonies.

It is stated in the memoirs among the Archives of Paris, that in 1751, St. John Island had already 1,868 inhabitants, and that, (also in 1751,) there were already 958 Acadians in the district here called Gedaïc.

The letters of Thomas Pichon assume 3,200 as the number of inhabitants of Isle Royale in 1752. Another memoir, of a few months later, gives to Isle Royale 4,325 residents, besides 30 persons in the house of the Governor and Ordonnateur, a garrison of 1,300 and a population of 600 Indians.

Until 1752 inclusive, a considerable emigration had taken place from the Peninsula to Isle Royale, which in 1754 and 1755 sent, in turn, an emigration to St. John Island and the north shores.

The movements indicated by the figures of the preceding table took place in the following manner. From 1749 to 1755 there was an emigration from the Peninsula to Isle Royale, to St. John Island, to the District of Gedaïc, and to the shores of the Gulf, so that the population of the Peninsula was reduced to 8,200 inhabitants at the date of the banishment. This population was thus distributed: At Port Royale, 1,500; around the Basin of Minas, 4,700; at Beaubassin, south, 1,500; (it is these 7,700 inhabitants whom Governor Lawrence estimates at 7,000) and in the rest of the Peninsula 500. The diminution in the Peninsula caused by this emigration, and the increase arising from the same cause in Isle Royale, St. John Island, in the District of Gedaïc and on the shores of the Gulf, including the natural increase of the population, are shown by the numbers of column 2, in the Table.

guit, 2,700 ; à Cobeguit, 1,200 ; de là et sur le Beaubassin 3,700 ; enfin dans les autres parties de la Péninsule, 1,500. Le mémoire de 1748 comprend ensemble cette dernière population et celle de Port-Royal.

Le mémoire de l'abbé de l'Isle-Dieu (Archives de Paris) donne, pour 1754, le chiffre de 6,318 Acadiens, établis dans le nord de la Péninsule ; le chiffre de 2,897 dans le nord et l'ouest de Beaubassin ; de 2,868 à l'Isle Saint-Jean, c'est à dire 12,083 habitants, en 1754, sans tenir compte des populations des côtes Sud et Est de la Péninsule, de l'Isle Royale, des côtes Nord-Est, de la Baie des Chaleurs et de la Rivière Saint-Jean. Le même mémoire, parlant de la totalité de la population de la Péninsule, en fixe le nombre, toujours pour 1754, à 9,215 habitants : cette population émigrait alors vers les autres régions acadiennes.

Un mémoire anglais publié à Londres, en 1751, sous le titre :—L'Importance de coloniser et de fortifier la Nouvelle-Ecosse, évalue à "près de quatre mille," le nombre de tous les français de l'ancienne Acadie en état de porter les armes : évidemment, c'était une exagération ; mais cela laisse voir que cette population avait une importance voisine de ce chiffre ; en effet tout le peuple acadien devait compter, en 1751, environ 3,500 hommes en âge de porter les armes. Le Gouverneur Lawrence d'Halifax, dans sa circulaire adressée aux divers Gouverneurs des colonies anglaises, en août 1755, (Archives de la Société Historique de Massachusett, reproduite dans Haliburton, Nova Scotia, tome I., page 329 et suivantes) estime à près de 7,000 personnes, les habitants acadiens du nord de la Péninsule qui devaient être transportés aux colonies anglaises.

On voit dans les mémoires des Archives de Paris, que l'Isle Saint-Jean avait déjà 1,868 habitants, en 1751, et qu'en 1751 également il y avait déjà 938 Acadiens dans le district appelé ici Gédaïc.

Les lettres de Thomas Pichon attribuent 3,200 habitants à l'Isle Royale, en 1752 ; un autre mémoire donne, à quelques mois de distance, à l'Ile Royale, 4,325 résidents, plus 30 personnes de la maison du Gouverneur et de l'Ordonnateur, une garnison de 1,300 hommes et une population de 600 sauvages.

C'est que, jusqu'à 1752 inclusivement, une émigration considérable eut lieu, de la Péninsule à l'Isle Royale, tandis que, en 1754 et en 1755, l'Isle Royale fournit à son tour une émigration à l'Isle Saint-Jean et aux Côtes Nord.

Voici comment s'opérèrent les mouvements que signalent les chiffres du Tableau qui précède. De 1749 à 1755 on émigra de la Péninsule à l'Ile Royale, à l'Ile Saint-Jean, au District de Gédaïc et aux Côtes du Golfe, de façon que la population se trouva réduite dans la Péninsule à 8,200 habitants en 1755, à l'époque du bannissement. Cette population se trouvait distribuée à peu près comme suit : à Port Royal, 1,500 ; autour du Bassin des Mines 4,700 ; à Beaubassin, sud, 1,500 (ce sont ces 7,700 habitants que le Gouverneur Lawrence évaluait à environ 7,000) ; et enfin dans le reste de la Péninsule 500. La diminution causée dans la Péninsule par cette Emigration et l'augmentation produite, de ce même fait, à l'Isle Royale, à l'Isle Saint-Jean, au District de Gédaïc et aux Côtes du Golfe, y compris l'augmentation naturelle de la population, sont exprimées par les chiffres de détails et le chiffre additionné total de la colonne 2 du Tableau.

An enumeration made in St. John Island, in 1753, shows the presence, at that time, of 2,663 souls; the memoir of the Abbé de l'Isle-Dieu gives 2,897 as the number of the population of the District of Gedaïc in 1754.

From September to December 1755 took place the banishment from the Peninsula of 6,000 Acadians, who were sent off in five detachments, as follows: 1,500 to Virginia; 2,000 to Carolina; 1,200 to Maryland; 400 to Pennsylvania; and 900 to Boston, according to the memoir by M. de la Rochette in the Paris Archives, the letter from the Acadians of Port Royal, dated from St. John River, July, 1756, to their former Missionary, Mr. Daudin, and what remains of the English records of the time. Of the 2,200 persons who escaped the proscription, 1,200 remained in the Peninsula, concealed in the woods and along the sea shore, living by hunting and fishing, and in the greatest distress. The other 1,000 went to swell the population of St. John Island and the district of Gedaïc. As the latter district had been ravaged by the burning of a part of the settlement and crops in the neighbourhood of Beaubassin, the wretchedness there was extreme, and the mortality enormous.

In 1756, a good number of the banished had found means to return, some by taking possession of the ships by which they were transported, others in small boats. Nearly 1,400, in all, went to St. John River, and a small number landed on the western shores of Nova Scotia. But death visited them, and the whole Acadian population, in spite of these returns, increased that year only by about 800.

From 1756 to 1758 a comparatively large emigration to Canada took place, and the mortality on the coast was enormous. A letter from the Bishop of Quebec says, that in 1757 there were 900 refugees at Miramichi; of whom it is known that 200 died in a single winter. The taking of Louisbourg in July, 1758, diminished the population of Cape Breton from 2,500 to 700; 1,700 were transported to La Rochelle, 700 remained on the island, and the small number not represented by these figures went to increase the population of St. John Island. The letter of the Bishop of Quebec says, that there were at least 6,000 inhabitants on St. John Island in 1757. In that same space of time, death decimated the districts of Gedaïc and the coasts, and Acadians of these localities emigrated in great numbers to Canada and St. John Island. These causes reduced the population on the mainland to a few hundred persons.

From 1758 to 1765, the property of the Acadians of St. John Island was taken possession of, and they were driven out, reducing this population from 6,500 souls to 1,400, but increasing the population of the District of Gedaïc, of the Shores and of the Bay des Chaleurs.

From 1765 to 1771, the mortality in the groups of population on the Gulf Shores was so large as to cause a comparatively important emigration to Canada. The descendants of the Acadians are met with everywhere by thousands in the Province of Quebec, but especially in the Magdalen Islands, the County of Bonaventure, the North Shore, the Counties of Bellechasse, Beauce, Champlain, Nicolet, Maskinongé, Montcalm, Assomption, Laprairie, St. John and Iberville.

Un dénombrement fait à l'Isle Saint-Jean, en 1753, constate alors la présence de 2,663 âmes ; le mémoire de l'Abbé de l'Isle-Dieu porte au chiffre de 2,897 la population du District de Gédaïc en 1754.

De Septembre à Décembre 1755 eut lieu le bannissement de 6,000 Acadiens de la Péninsule, expédiés en cinq convois et dirigés comme suit : 1,500 sur la Virginie ; 2,000 sur la Caroline ; 1,200 sur le Maryland ; 400 sur la Pensylvanie et 900 sur Boston ; comme on l'apprend par le mémoire de M. de la Rochette, aux Archives de Paris, la lettre des Acadiens de Port-Royal, datée de la Rivière Saint-Jean, Juillet 1756, à leur ancien missionnaire, M. Daudin, et ce qui a été conservé des papiers anglais de l'époque. Des 2,200 habitants de la Péninsule, échappés à la proscription, 1,200 restèrent dans la Péninsule, cachés dans les bois et le long des rivages de la mer, vivant de chasse et de pêche et dans la plus grande misère; les 1,000 autres allèrent grossir les populations de l'Isle Saint-Jean et du district de Gédaïc. Comme ce dernier district avait été ravagé par l'incendie d'une partie des établissements et des récoltes des alentours de Beaubassin, la misère y fut extrême et la mortalité énorme.

En 1756, un bon nombre d'exilés avaient trouvé les moyens de revenir, les uns en s'emparant des navires qui les transportaient, les autres dans de petites embarcations. Près de 1,400, en tout, allèrent à la Rivière Saint-Jean et quelques uns abordèrent les côtes Ouest de la Nouvelle-Ecosse ; mais la mort les visitait, et tout l'ensemble de la population Acadienne, malgré ces retours, n'augmenta que d'environ huit cents cette année.

De 1756 à 1758 eut lieu une Emigration relativement considérable vers le Canada, et la mortalité des côtes fut énorme. Une lettre de l'Evêque de Québec dit qu'en 1757 il y avait 900 réfugiés à Miramichi ; on sait qu'il en mourut 200, dans un seul hiver. La prise de Louisbourg, en Juillet 1758, diminua la population du Cap-Breton de 2,500 à 700 ; 1,700 furent transportés à la Rochelle, 700 restèrent dans l'Isle et le petit nombre, en dehors de ces chiffres, alla grossir la population de l'Isle Saint-Jean. La lettre de l'Evêque de Québec dit qu'ils étaient au moins 6,000 habitants sur l'Isle St.-Jean, en 1757. Dans ce même espace de temps la mortalité décimait les districts de Gédaïc et des côtes ; les Acadiens de ces endroits émigraient en grand nombre vers le Canada et l'Isle Saint-Jean, réduisant la population de terre ferme à quelques centaines de personnes.

De 1758 à 1765 eut lieu l'expropriation des Acadiens de l'Isle Saint-Jean ; cette persécution, en les forçant à quitter l'Isle, réduisit cette population de 6,500 âmes à 1,400, environ, mais augmenta la population du district de Gédaïc, des Côtes et de la Baie des Chaleurs.

De 1765 à 1771, la mortalité fut considérable dans les groupes du Golfe, il se fit vers le Canada une émigration relativement importante. Les descendants, par milliers, des Acadiens se rencontrent partout dans la Province de Québec ; mais surtout aux Isles de la Madeleine, dans le comté de Bonaventure, aux côtes du Nord, dans les comtés de Bellechasse, de Beauce, de Champlain, de Nicolet, de Maskinongé, de Montcalm, de l'Assomption, de Laprairie, de Saint-Jean et d'Iberville.

En 1763 il se fit un retour des exilés du Massachusett à la Péninsule Acadienne, ce qui explique l'augmentation signalée de 1,200 en 1758, à 1,700 en 1765, malgré la mortalité.

In 1763 there was a return of exiles from Massachusetts to the Acadian Peninsula, which explains the increase from 1,200 in 1758 to 1,700 in 1765, notwithstanding the mortality.

It was apparently only about 1771 that the Acadians saw the cessation of the emigration which had diminished their population, and that having again attained to easy circumstances, they began to increase at the rate of 2·5 per cent. per annum. It is at this rate, taking the Census of 1871 for a basis, that the probable number of the Acadian population in each centre has been fixed in column 7; in fact, the number of 8,442, in the ratio of the increase indicated during the course of a century, accounts for the Acadian population of 99,740 souls (the Acadian population of Prince Edward Island and the State of Maine included) in 1871. Exchanges of settlers from Acadia to Canada, and vice versa, have taken place in the course of this century, but as these exchanges almost balance each other, they have not affected the general result.

The sum total of the losses experienced by the Acadian population in Acadia from 1755 to 1771, without taking into account the absorption by death of a number of victims equal to the whole of the births, has been 10,058, which may be approximately apportioned thus: Returned or sent to France, about 3,500; settled in the British Colonies, Louisiana, St. Domingo, Martinique and elsewhere, about 1,500; emigrated to the Province of Quebec, about 3,500; excess of deaths over births during this period, 1,558. In adding to this last number the deaths which occurred by hundreds on board ships and on foreign shores, and a number equal to all the births, a frightful mortality is exhibited, which called forth the expression of the poet who has sung of the Acadians:

"Written their history stands on tablets of stone in the church yards."

Ce ne fut apparemment que vers 1771 que les Acadiens virent cesser l'émigration qui les diminuait et qu'ayant acquis une nouvelle aisance ils se reprirent à croître au taux de 2.5 par cent par an. C'est à ce taux que, prenant le Recensement de 1871 pour bâse, le chiffre probable de la population Acadienne de chaque centre a été établi à la colonne 7 ;—en effet, le chiffre de 8,442, à raison de l'accroissement indiquée, pendant le cours d'un siècle, rend compte de la population Acadienne de 99,740 âmes (la population Acadienne de l'Isle du Prince-Edouard et de l'Etat du Maine comprise) en 1871. Il y a eu, dans le cours de ce siècle, des échanges de colons de l'Acadie au Canada, et vice versâ, mais ces échanges se faisant à peu près compensation, n'ont point eu d'influence sur le résultat général.

La somme totale des pertes éprouvées par la population Acadienne, dans l'Acadie, de 1755 à 1771, sans tenir compte de la complète absorption par la mort d'un nombre de victimes égal à toutes les naissances, a donc été de 10,058, pouvant approximativement se partager comme suit : retournés ou renvoyés en France, environ 3,500 ; établis dans les colonies Anglaises, la Louisiane, Saint-Domingue, La Martinique, et ailleurs, environ 1,500 ; réfugiés dans la Province de Québec, environ 3,500 ; excédant des morts sur les naissances pendant cette période 1,558. En ajoutant, à ce dernier nombre, le chiffre de ceux qui moururent dans les navires et à l'étranger par centaines, et un chiffre de morts égal à toutes les naissances, on arrive à une mortalité vraiment effrayante, qui a fait dire au chantre des Acadiens :

" Sur les croix des tombeaux, leur histoire est écrite."

In the London Archives, (1763), is a memorandum by Sir William Johnson containing an estimate of the numbers of Indian warriors frequenting the neighbourhood of both banks of the St. Lawrence from Quebec westward; of both banks of the Ottawa River and of both sides of Lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron, Michigan and Superior, a portion of the Central and Western States and of the North Western Prairies, under the four following designations:

Six Nation Confederacy	2,230	warriors

Indians of Ohio	1,100	"
Ottawa Confederacy	3,220	"
Miamis or Twightwees	800	"
Chipeweighs &c.	4,000	"

(exclusive of the Sioux and Illinois). In all 11,980 warriors, which supposes a population of about 59,900 souls. A serious error of addition in the memorandum has been corrected in this statement. This document is commented upon further on.

1764—Population of Nova Scotia: 12,998.

NOTE.—This statement of population contains only a portion of the Acadians.

1765—Population of Canada: 69,810.
(Census.—See summary, pages 64 to 68.)

NOTE.—The number of 14,700 souls inserted in the summary, page 65, for the united cities of Quebec and Montreal is taken from a memorandum found in the Fabrique of Cap-Santé. The division between the two cities is calculated as shown at page 68.

Dans les Archives de Londres, année 1763, on trouve un Mémoire de Sir William Johnson, qui donne un aperçu du nombre des Guerriers sauvages habitant les deux rives de la vallée du St. Laurent, depuis Québec à l'Ouest; les deux rives de la rivière Outaouais; les deux rives des lacs Ontario, Erié, Huron, Michigan et Supérieur, une partie des Etats-Unis, du centre et de l'ouest, et une partie du Nord-Ouest, sous les quatre titres suivants:

(moins les Sioux et les Illinois), en tout 11,980 guerriers; ce qui suppose une population d'environ, 59,900 âmes.—Il y a dans le Mémoire une sérieuse erreur d'addition qui est ici corrigée. On revient plus loin sur ce document.

There were at that time (1784) in Upper Canada about 10,000 United Empire Loyalists, according to memorandum contained in the Appendices of the House of Assembly of Upper Canada for 1828. These 10,000 are not included in the preceding Census.

1784—British Population of Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton and the Mainland, estimated at 32,000 souls, having been increased by the arrival of about 20,000 United Empire Loyalists.

(Haliburton, Nova Scotia, Vol. II., page 275.)

This estimate of the population of Nova Scotia, which still comprised New Brunswick and Cape Breton, cannot include the Acadians, who then numbered in all about 11,000.

The migratory movement which took place at this period, was so important, that it is necessary that some explanations should accompany the figures. The rapid progress of British colonization in the Gulf Provinces, and in the Province of Ontario, at that time an integral part of the old Province of Quebec, and for the first time created into a separate Province in 1791 under the name of Upper Canada, dates from the beginning of the American Revolution. Unfortunately, the details are not abundant on this interesting subject. Sabine, in his Loyalists (Boston, 1864), says in his Preface :—"The most "thorough and painstaking inquirers into their history have been hardly rewarded "for the time and attention which they have bestowed."

The Revolution in the British Colonies, now the United States, revived the former struggles, never altogether abandoned, between the Puritans and the Cavaliers, also known by the names of Roundheads and Monarchists respectively, as well as by those of Whigs and Tories. Generally, the latter took part with England, either actively or Il y avait alors (1784), dans le Haut-Canada, environ 10,000 United Empire Loyalists, d'après un mémoire consigné aux Appendices de la Chambre d'Assemblée du Haut-Canada, pour l'année 1823. Ces 10,000 ne sont pas inclus au précédent recensement.

1784—Population Britannique de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, comprenant le Cap Breton et la terre ferme, estimée à 32,000, ayant été augmentée par l'arrivée d'environ 20,000 United Empire Loyalists.

(Haliburton, Nova Scotia, Vol. II., page 275.)

Cette évaluation de la population de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, qui comprenait encore, en ce moment, le Nouveau-Brunswick et le Cap Breton, ne tient pas compte des Acadiens qui étaient alors en tout environ 11,000.

Le mouvement migratoire qui se place ici, en ordre de date, eut une telle importance qu'il est nécessaire d'accompagner les chiffres de quelques explications ; car c'est à dater de la Révolution Américaine qu'ont commencé les rapides progrès de la colonisation anglaise des Provinces du Golfe et de la Province d'Ontario, alors partie intégrante de l'ancienne Province de Québec. La Province actuelle d'Ontario fut érigée, pour la première fois, en Province séparée, sous le nom de Haut-Canada, en 1791. Malheureusement les détails n'abondent pas sur cet intéressant sujet ; Sabine, dans son ouvrage sur les Loyalists (Boston, 1864), dit, dans sa Préface :—"Les plus industrieux chercheurs de leur histoire ont été peu récompensés pour "le temps et les soins qu'ils y ont mis."

La révolution des Colonies anglaises, aujourd'hui les Etats-Unis, vint raviver les anciennes luttes qui n'avaient jamais été entièrement abandonnées, entre les Puritains et les Cavaliers, aussi respectivement désignés sous les noms de Roundheads et de Monarchists, et encore de passively, and as such are now designated as Loyalists in works written by American authors, and by English and Canadian writers as United Empire Loyalists.

Whilst the War of Independence of the thirteen colonies was being prosecuted, the Loyalists, as they were called, a large number of whom had joined the British Army, suffered confiscation and banishment, the greater number remained, notwithstanding, in their native or adopted country; others sought refuge in England; others, again, to the probable total number of from 35,000 to 40,000 persons, including disbanded soldiers, came to seek an asylum in Canada and Nova Scotia. Before their arrival the population of British origin in the latter Province amounted to 12,000 souls, being a decrease from the number by the Census of 1772 in Nova Scotia, which then included New Brunswick. That part of the Province of Quebec now constituting that Province contained about 10,000 souls of the same origin; that part of Quebec, now forming the Province of Ontario, may be said to have been then uninhabited.

The great movement of the United Empire Loyalists to the Provinces which remained faithful to England, begun on the conclusion of the peace by the Treaty of Paris, signed on the 3rd September, 1783, but from the time of the evacuation of Boston by the British troops in 1776, a considerable number of Loyalists had sought refuge in Nova Scotia. Similarly, after the capitulation of General Burgoyne at Saratoga, in October, 1777, a certain number of Loyalists obtained shelter in the Province of Quebec.

The Loyalists were well received by Britain and her Colonies. Parliament passed an act authorizing the Crown to settle the amount of the losses they had sustained by the confiscation of their property, and to indemnify them, which was done between 1784 and 1788, the Commissioners holding Courts of Enquiry successively in England, in Halifax, Quebec and Montreal.

In the Provinces of Quebec and Nova Scotia, there were given to the Refugees lands to the extent of from 200 to 1,200 acres to each family, agricultural implements and food and clothing for two years.

Besides what was done for the refugee families, an Order in Council by the Government of the Province of Quebec, dated 9th November, 1789, provided for the settlement of the children of the Loyalists. The following is an extract from this Order in Council:—

"The Council concurring with His Lordship, it is accordingly ordered that the "Land Boards take means for preserving a register of the names of all persons falling "under the description above mentioned, to the end that their posterity may be discrim- "inated from future settlers in the parish registers and rolls of the militia of their respec- "tive districts and other public remembrances of the Province, as proper objects by their "perseverance in the fidelity and conduct so honourable to their ancestors for distinguish- "ed benefits and privileges.

"And it is also ordered that the Land Boards may, in any such case, provide not "only for the sons of those Loyalists as they arrive at full age, but for their daughters "also of that age, or on their marriage, assigning to each a lot of 200 acres more or "less."

Whigs et de Tories. En général, les derniers prirent activement ou passivement la part de l'Angleterre et, comme tels, sont désignés, maintenant, dans les ouvrages écrits par les Américains, sous le nom de Loyalists, et par les écrivains Anglais et Canadiens sous le nom de United Empire Loyalists.

A mesure que se faisait la guerre de l'Indépendance des treize Colonies, comme on les nommait, les Loyalists, dont un très grand nombre avaient rejoints l'armée Anglaise, avaient à souffrir la confiscation et le bannissement ; la plupart demeurèrent, malgré tout, dans leur pays natal ou d'adoption, d'autres allèrent se réfugier en Angleterre, d'autres, enfin, au chiffre total probable de 35 à 40,000 personnes, y compris les soldats licenciés, vinrent demander asile au Canada et à la Nouvelle-Ecosse. Avant leur arrivée, la population d'origine Britannique comptait, dans cette dernière province, 12,000 âmes, étant en diminution du nombre du recensement de 1772, dans la Nouvelle-Ecosse, qui comprenait alors le Nouveau-Brunswick. La partie de la Province de Québec, formant aujourd'hui de nouveau la Province de Québec, comptait environ 10,000 âmes de la même origine ; la partie de la Province de Québec, formant aujourd'hui la Province d'Ontario, était, on peut dire, inhabitée.

Ce fut à la paix conclue par le Traité de Paris, signé le 3 Septembre 1783, que commença le grand mouvement des United Empire Loyalists vers les Provinces restées fidèles à l'Angleterre ; mais dès l'évacuation de Boston par les troupes Anglaises, en Mars 1776, un nombre considérable de Loyalists se réfugièrent à la Nouvelle-Ecosse. Semblablement, à la suite de la capitulation du Général Bourgoyne, à Saratoga, en Octobre 1777, un certain nombre de Loyalists prirent asile dans la Province de Québec.

Les Loyalists furent bien accueillis par l'Angleterre et ses colonies. Le Parlement passa un Acte autorisant la Couronne à établir le montant des pertes qu'ils avaient faites, par la confiscation de leurs propriétés, et à les indemniser, ce qui fut fait de 1784 à 1788, les Commissaires tenant enquête tout le temps, en Angleterre d'abord, puis à Halifax, à Québec et à Montréal.

Dans la Province de Québec et dans la Province de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, on donna aux réfugiés, des terres d'une étendue variant de 200 à 1,200 âcres par famille, des instruments d'agriculture et des secours en aliments et vêtements pendant deux années.

En sus de ce qui avait été fait pour les familles réfugiées, un Ordre en Conseil du Gouvernement de la Province de Québec, en date du 9 Novembre 1789, vint pourvoir à l'établissement des enfants des Loyalists. Voici un extrait de cet Ordre en Conseil.

"Le Conseil étant de l'avis de Sa Seigneurie, ordonne en conséquence que le Bureau des "Terres prenne des mesures pour la conservation d'un Registre des noms de toutes les per- "sonnes tombant sous l'appellation précitée (Loyalists), à cette fin que leurs descendants "puissent être distingués des colons à venir, dans les Registres des Paroisses, et sur les Rôles "de la Milice dans leurs districts respectifs, et de toute autre manière dans les documents "publics de la Province, comme étant dignes, à cause de la persévérance, de la fidélité et de "la conduite si honorable de leurs ancêtres, de bénéficier d'avantages et de priviléges distincts."

"Il est encore ordonné que le Bureau des Terres, en ces cas, pourvoie non-seulement à "récompenser les fils de ces Loyalists à leur âge de majorité, mais aussi leurs filles, à cet "âge ou à l'occasion de leur mariage, en leur accordant à chacune un lot de terre de 200 âcres, "plus ou moins."

Lists still exist in Canada; a copy of one of these is deposited in the Archives of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, the original of which belongs to the Ontario Government; and there are to be found in the London Archives, amongst the documents known as the "Haldimand Papers," lists of names and other memoranda relating to the Loyalists, anterior in date, however, to the Order in Council just cited.

The despatches of Governor Parr of Nova Scotia, dated in September and October, 1783, give 20,000 in all as the number of United Empire Loyalists who had taken refuge in that Province, including New Brunswick, which was still part of Nova Scotia.

In 1784 the whole littoral of the River St. Lawrence, from Lake St. Francis to Lake Ontario, the shores of Lake Ontario as far as and including the Bay of Quinté, the neighbourhood of the town of Niagara, then called Newark, and part of the shores of the Detroit River, were colonized by about 10,000 United Empire Loyalists who, assisted by Government aid, took possession of land which had been laid out for their reception.

Previous to that time and since, a number of Loyalists, less considerable than that of the refugees in Upper Canada, but still important, had settled in the Lower Canadian part of the then Province of Quebec, especially on that part which lay close to the American frontier. Without it being possible to give the precise number of the United Empire Loyalists who, during the course of the Revolutionary War, and for some years after the Treaty of Peace in 1783, took refuge in what is now British North America, it may be estimated as amounting to about 40,000. The fact that the Loyalist emigration towards the British Provinces lasted many years must not be lost sight of, for, even after having escaped the first dangers of the Revolutionary period, and long after the Peace was concluded, the position of the Loyalists in the midst of the new Republic was often difficult to endure.

Population of Prince Edward Island, so named in 1798–1800: 9,676.
(Bouchette—The British Dominions, Vol. II., page 235.)

Il existe encore de ces listes en Canada; les Archives du Département de l'Agriculture, à Ottaoua, possèdent la copie d'un de ces cahiers dont l'original appartient au Gouvernement d'Ontario. On trouve dans les Archives de Londres, au milieu des documents désignés sous le nom de Haldimand Papers, des listes de noms et autres mémoires relatifs aux Loyalists, ces papiers, toutefois, sont antérieurs à l'Ordre en conseil dont on vient de parler.

Les dépêches du Gouverneur Parr, de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, en date de Septembre et d'Octobre 1783, portent à 20,000, tout ensemble, le nombre des United Empire Loyalists, dès lors, réfugiés dans cette Province, y compris le Nouveau-Brunswick, encore alors annexé à la Nouvelle-Ecosse.

En 1784, tout le littoral du fleuve St. Laurent, depuis le Lac St. François jusqu'au Lac Ontario, les bords du Lac Ontario jusqu'à et y compris la Baie de Quinté, puis les environs de la ville de Niagara, alors appelée Newark, et une partie des rives de la Rivière Détroit, furent colonisés par environ 10,000 United Empire Loyalists, qui prirent possession des terres partagées pour les recevoir, aidés des secours du Gouvernement.

Dès avant, alors et depuis, un nombre de Loyalists moins considérable que celui des réfugiés du Haut-Canada ; mais important aussi, s'était établi dans la partie bas-canadienne de la Province de Québec, surtout dans la partie voisine de la frontière Américaine. En sorte que, sans pouvoir préciser le nombre des United Empire Loyalists qui, pendant la durée de la guerre de la révolution Américaine et durant les quelques années qui suivirent la paix de 1783, ont pris refuge dans le Nord-Amérique-Britannique d'aujourd'hui, on peut l'évaluer au chiffre d'environ 40,000. Il ne faut pas oublier que le mouvement d'Immigration, qui dirigeait les Loyalists vers les Provinces Anglaises, dura pendant plusieurs années ; car, même après avoir échappé aux mauvais traitements de l'époque révolutionnaire, et longtemps après la signature du traité de paix, la position des loyalistes dans la nouvelle république était assez difficile à supporter.

The figures given above (by the Censuses of 1871) include the aboriginal population, ascertained by the regular process of enumeration, of the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island; but there are no regular Censuses of these populations for the portions of British North America in which they are predominant. There is no aboriginal population on the Island of Newfoundland, as the few Indian families, occasionally met with, belong to the tribes of the coast of Labrador (a part of which is annexed to Newfoundland), or to the Micmac groups of the southern coasts of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

It is of importance, both in a statistical and ethnographical point of view, to establish the approximate number of the whole aboriginal race of these vast territories of British North America, of which they were the first occupants and consequently the first proprietors.

Three statements, Censuses they might be called, of the aboriginal population within certain named districts, have been mentioned in the preceding pages, the numbers having been ascertained at three different periods of the history of colonization in this country. Although incomplete, they have considerable value, inasmuch as they bear the character of the comparative exactitude which the subject admits of, and are, therefore, the numerical expression of the amount of population in a savage state which a certain extent of territory will maintain, under given circumstances, by the produce of hunting and fishing. Certain tribes mentioned cultivated maize, or Indian corn, pumpkins and beans, but any one studying the conditions of such cultivation described in the writings of missionaries and discoverers, will see at once that these resources, in the best yielding seasons, could not dispense with Population de l'Isle du Prince-Edouard : 94,021.

(Recensement.—Voir résumé, pages 390 à 403 de ce volume.)

Les chiffres ci-dessus inscrits (Recensements de 1871) comprennent la population aborigène (constatée d'une manière régulière et complète) des Provinces d'Ontario, de Québec, du Nouveau-Brunswick, de la Nouvelle-Ecosse et de l'Isle du Prince-Edouard. Mais il n'existe pas de recensement de ces populations pour les autres parties du Nord-Amérique Britannique, où domine cependant cet élément. L'Isle de Terreneuve n'a pas de population aborigène ; les quelques familles sauvages qui s'y rencontrent, de temps à autre, appartiennent aux tribus de la Côte du Labrador (dont partie est annexée à Terreneuve), ou bien aux groupes Micmacs des Côtes-Sud du Golfe Saint-Laurent.

Il importe, au double point de vue de la Statistique et de l'Ethnographie, d'établir le chiffre approximatif des aborigènes de ces vastes espaces, dont ils ont été les premiers propriétaires.

On a vu, dans les pages qui précèdent, trois états, on pourrait dire Recensements, de la population aborigène, établis à trois époques différentes de l'histoire de la colonisation de ce pays. Ces trois renseignements, bien que n'étant pas complets, ont une valeur considérable en ce qu'ils portent, pour autant, le caractère de l'exactitude relative que permet le sujet, et sont, par conséquent, l'expression du chiffre de population qu'une certaine étendue de territoire peut maintenir, par la chasse et la pêche, à l'état sauvage dans les conditions données. Certaines tribus cultivaient le maïs, la citrouille et la fève ; mais en étudiant les conditions de ces cultures, décrites dans les ouvrages des Missionnaires et des Découvreurs, on voit de suite que cette ressource, having recourse to hunting and fishing; and, besides, that this cultivation would only take place where the sea fishing of the maritime coasts, or where the hunting ground was wanting in extent or products.

Most of the estimates of the aboriginal population made by both ancient and modern writers, from information given by Indians themselves, or by travellers and traders, are full of exaggeration, which has been seldom discovered by criticism, so difficult is it to realize as correct, the fact of the enormous extent of territory necessary to supply man with food by the chase.

It is thus that at and after the time of Champlain, the population of the Huron Nation was estimated at 30,000 and upwards. Champlain himself fell into this error, which he, however, corrects in a manner, by saying that that nation had only 2,000 warriors, (which means about 10,000 souls). And, in fact, a regular census made by the missionaries in 1639—that is, at the period of the greatest concentration of the Hurons —showed at that time 32 villages, 700 lodges, (among the settled Huron-Iroquois the villages were composed of arched lodges serving for a greater or lesser number of families), 2,000 fires, 12,000 persons. (Relation de 1640, page 62).

It should be mentioned that the Hurons cultivated the soil, fished in Lake Huron, and hunted over a certain extent of uninhabited woods to the east of their settled grounds.

The war of extermination which was waged among the different tribes of the Huron-Iroquois race, inhabiting the villages around Lakes Ontario, Erie, Huron and vicinity, caused the almost complete extinction of the Hurons in 1648 and 1649, and reduced the numbers of the other tribes to such a point that the confederation of the five Iroquois nations, the most powerful aboriginal organization known, amounted, in 1665 and 1677, notwithstanding the annexions of the remainder of other tribes to only a few thousand souls.

The population of the five nations was regularly ascertained in 1665 by the Jesuit Missionaries, and in 1677 by Wentworth Greenhalgh, in a tour of investigation for that purpose made on account of the British Government. The summary of these two enumerations may be found, the first in the Relation of 1665, pages 10 and 11, the second in the London Archives.

In 1665, the Anniegués (Mohawks) counted 400 warriors; the Onneyouts (Oneidas) 140 warriors; the Onnontagués (Onondagas) 300 warriors; Oïogouens (Cayugas) 300 warriors; and the Sonnontouans (Senecas) 1,200 warriors; in all 2,340 warriors, or 11,700 souls.

The enumeration of 1677 is thus summarized: Maquaes (Mohawks) 5 villages, 96 lodges, 300 warriors; Onyades (Oneidas) 1 village, 100 lodges, 200 warriors; Onondagos, 2 villages, 164 lodges, 350 warriors; Caïougos (Cayugas) 3 villages, 100 lodges, 300 warriors; Senecques (Senecas) 4 villages, 324 lodges, 1,000 warriors; in all 2,150 warriors, or about 10,750 souls.

Before examining the three most important documents we possess relative to the aboriginal population of old, it may be interesting to add a document bearing every mark of exactitude. The document relates to the year 1745 and is among the Paris Archives.

dans les meilleures années de rapport, ne dispensait pas d'avoir recours à la chasse et à la pêche, et que ces cultures n'avaient lieu que là où la grande pêche des côtes maritimes manquait ou bien lorsque l'espace à chasser était insuffisant.

La plupart des évaluations de la population aborigène, faites par les auteurs, tant anciens que modernes, sur les données fournies par les sauvages eux-mêmes, les voyageurs et les traiteurs, sont entachées d'exagération, que la critique a rarement découverte, tant on a de peine à admettre comme exact le chiffre de l'énorme superficie de territoire nécessaire à l'alimentation de l'homme par la chasse.

C'est ainsi que du temps de Champlain, et après, on évaluait à 30,000 âmes et plus, la population de la nation Huronne; Champlain lui-même tombe dans cette erreur qu'il corrige, cependant, d'une certaine façon, en disant que cette nation comptait seulement 2,000 guerriers, ce qui suppose environ 10,000 âmes. Et, en effet, un recensement régulier fait par les Missionnaires, en 1639, c'est-à-dire à l'époque de la plus grande concentration des Hurons, constate alors 32 bourgades, 700 cabanes (chez les Hurons-Iroquois des bourgades sédentaires, ces logements en tonnelles servaient à un plus ou moins grand nombre de familles), 2,000 feux, 12,000 personnes. (Relation de 1640, page 62.)

Il faut remarquer que les Hurons cultivaient le sol, pêchaient dans le Lac Huron et chassaient dans une assez grande étendue de forêts inhabitées, à l'Est de leur pays de séjour.

La guerre d'extermination que se firent entre elles les diverses tribus de race Huronne-Iroquoise habitant la vallée des Lacs Ontario, Erié, Huron et voisinage, amena la presqu'extinction des Hurons en 1648 et 1649, et réduisit le nombre des autres tribus au point que la confédération des cinq Cantons Iroquois, la plus puissante organisation aborigène connue, ne comptait, en 1665 et 1677, malgré l'annexion des restes d'autres peuplades, que quelques milliers d'âmes.

La population des cinq Cantons a été régulièrement constatée, en 1665, par les Missionnaires Jésuites, et, en 1677, par Wentworth Greenhalgh, dans un tour fait à cet effet pour le compte du gouvernement Anglais. Le résumé de ces deux dénombrements se trouve, le premier, dans la Relation de 1665, pages 10 et 11; le second, dans les Archives de Londres.

En 1665, les Anniégués (Agniers) comptaient 400 guerriers; les Onneyouts 140 guerriers; les Onnontagués 300 guerriers; les Oïogouens (Goyogouins) 300 guerriers; et les Sonnontouans (Tsonnontouans) 1,200 guerriers: en tout 2,340 guerriers, ou environ 11,700 âmes.

Le dénombrement de 1677 est ainsi résumé: Maquaes (Agniers) 5 bourgades, 96 cabanes, 300 guerriers; Onyades (Onneyouts) 1 bourgade, 100 cabanes, 200 guerriers; Onondagos (Onnontagués) 2 bourgades, 164 cabanes, 350 guerriers; Caïougos (Goyogouins) 3 bourgades, 100 cabanes, 300 guerriers; Senecques (Tsonnontouans) 4 bourgades, 324 cabanes, 1,000 guerriers: en tout 2,150 guerriers ou environ 10,750 âmes.

Avant d'examiner les trois documents les plus importants qu'on possède sur la question de la population aborigène ancienne, il est intéressant d'ajouter un dernier renseignement, portant le caractère de l'exactitude. Ce renseignement se rapporte à l'année 1745, et se trouve aux Archives de Paris. Les Missionnaires, MM. les Abbés Laloutre et Maillard et les PP. Lacorne et de l'Estage, rendent compte des familles Micmacs et constatent l'existence de 200 familles dans l'Acadie (la Nouvelle-Ecosse); de 80 familles à l'Isle Royale (Cap Breton); de

The missionaries, the Abbé Laloutre and Abbé Maillard, and Fathers Lacorne and De l'Estage, give an account of the Micmacs, of whom they ascertained the existence in Acadia (Nova Scotia), of 200 families; in Isle Royale (Cape Breton), 80 families; in Miramichi, 195 families, and in Restigouche, 60 families; in all 535 families, or about 2,407 souls. Among the Indians the mean is about 4·5 individuals to each family, and as the number of men fit to bear arms is a little greater than that of the families, the number of warriors is multiplied by 5 and of the families by 4½ to arrive at the population. It is at those rates, that, when needed, the population is calculated in the following pages.

The broad facts which spring from the examination of the conditions of the savage state in this country, are:

1. That the most fertile soils are not those which, in general, yield most support to those engaged in hunting; that the fisheries, and specially on the maritime coast, are the most abundant of the natural sources of supply found by man in a savage state. It is the Indians most favourably situated in respect to soil and climate, who supplement the food obtained by hunting and fishing, by cultivation. On the other hand the Esquimaux, whose territory is restricted to the waste and desolate shores of the frozen sea, manage to derive a rough abundance from the icebound waters;

2. That Indian populations living exclusively by hunting and fishing, cannot increase beyond certain very restricted limits, governed by the ratio between the number of inhabitants and the superficies inhabited. Below this ratio they descend periodically by famine, disease, or war, oscillating in this way, between an almost determinable maximum (the circumstances being known) and an indeterminable minimum. The mildness of the climate has a great bearing on this question, if not in actually adding to the natural resources, at least in lessening the wants;

3. That Indian populations, keeping to the habits of hunting tribes, diminish in number in the ratio of the extent and frequency of their relations with civilized nations, by the destruction of their primitive means of existence, and the introduction of vices and diseases, or by absorption, in the creation of a half breed race.

To decide as to the greater or less value of the figures given respecting the Indian population of a territorial division, in the absence of a regular Census, these elements of criticism must be taken into account.

The first of the statements of Indian population referred to, dates from 1611. It was prepared by a Jesuit missionary, and inserted in the Relation of that year, being the first of this series of admirable letters which constitute the most valuable source of information for the history of the early days of Canadian colonization.

The country inhabited by the tribes mentioned in that Relation, who all belonged to the great Algonquin family, afforded good hunting and superior fishing. The Souriquois (the Micmacs of the present day) inhabited what now constitutes the Provinces of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the littoral of the Gulf of St. Lawrence in the Provinces of New Brunswick and Quebec, and the eastern watersheds of that region. They were about 3,500, and their territory then covered a superficies of about 45,000 square miles (English).

195 familles à Miramichi, et de 60 familles à Restigouche : en tout 535 familles ou environ 2,407 âmes. Les familles sauvages donnent en moyenne à peu près 4.5 individus par famille ; et comme le nombre des hommes en état de porter les armes est un peu plus grand que celui des ménages, on multiplie par 5 le nombre des guerriers, et par $4\frac{1}{2}$ le nombre des familles pour avoir le chiffre de la population. C'est à ces taux que, chaque fois qu'il y a lieu, la population est calculée dans les pages qui suivent.

Les grands faits qui ressortent de l'examen des conditions de l'état sauvage, dans ce pays, sont :

1. Que les sols les plus fertiles ne sont pas ceux qui fournissent en général le plus de chasse ; que la pêche, et surtout la pêche des côtes maritimes, est la ressource naturelle la plus abondante que trouve l'homme à l'état sauvage. Ce sont les sauvages de la zône la plus favorisée sous le rapport du climat et du sol qui suppléaient aux deux sources naturelles d'alimentation par la culture du sol : d'autre part, les Esquimaux, dont le territoire se compose exclusivement des bords nus et désolés de l'Océan Glacial, parviennent à se faire un régime abondant, bien que grossier, en exploitant une mer presque toujours couverte de glace ;

2. Que les populations sauvages, vivant exclusivement de chasse et de pêche, ne peuvent augmenter au-delà de certains rapports très restreints entre le nombre d'habitants et la superficie habitée, en-deça desquels toujours elles descendent périodiquement, par la famine, les maladies ou la guerre, oscillant ainsi entre un nombre maximum à peu près déterminable (les conditions étant données) et un nombre minimum évidemment indéterminé. La douceur du climat exerce ici une grande influence, si pas en augmentant les ressources du moins en diminuant les besoins ;

3. Que les populations sauvages, restant à l'état de peuples chasseurs, diminuent en nombre en raison de l'étendue et de la fréquence de leurs rapports avec les nations civilisées, par la destruction des moyens primitifs d'existence, par l'introduction de vices et de maladies, ou par l'absorption dans la création d'une race métisse.

Pour juger du plus ou moins de valeur des chiffres donnés pour représenter la population Sauvage d'une division territoriale non recensée, il faut tenir compte de ces éléments de critique.

Le premier des états de population indigène dont il vient d'être parlé, date de 1611 ; il a été préparé par un missionnaire Jésuite, et se trouve inséré dans la Relation de cette année, la première de cette série de lettres admirables qui constituent la source la plus féconde de l'histoire des premiers temps de la colonisation du Canada.

Le pays habité par les tribus mentionnées dans cette Relation, qui toutes appartenaient à la grande famille algonquine, était un pays de belle chasse et de bonne pêche. Les Souriquois (Micmacs d'aujourd'hui) habitaient ce qui constitue aujourd'hui les Provinces de la Nouvelle-Ecosse et de l'Isle du Prince-Edouard, le littoral du Golfe Saint-Laurent, dans les Provinces du Nouveau-Brunswick et de Québec, et les déversoirs Est de cette région ; ils étaient environ 3,500 et leur territoire d'alors couvrait une superficie d'environ 45,000 milles anglais carrés.

The Etaminquois (now the Maléchites) occupied the whole valley of the St. John River in New Brunswick and part of the State of Maine, extending into and including all the interior, as far as the River St. Lawrence, taking in that part of the valley of the St. Lawrence which fronts on the course of the St. John River and tributaries. They numbered about 2,500, and their territory covered, then, a superficies equal to about 40,000 square miles; but their maritime fisheries were less extensive than those of the Souriquois.

The Kenibéquis (now the Abenakis) occupied part of the States of Maine, Vermont, and New Hampshire, the States of Massachusetts and Connecticut and all the southern valley of the St. Lawrence, from the River Chaudière to the Iroquois territory, and even hunted on the littoral of the north shore of the St. Lawrence; they numbered 3,000, and their territory covered a superficies of about 55,000 square English miles. Their coast fishing, although of great value, was much less important than those of the Souriquois and Etaminquois.

The Montagnets belonged to the Abenakis family, and their hunting grounds were in the mountainous parts of New Hampshire and Vermont, and in that part of the Province of Quebec now known as the Eastern Townships, and the District of Beauce. They numbered 1,000 souls, and occupied about 20,000 square miles of country, but without fisheries. We have, then, in a country containing one of the most abundant hunting and fishing grounds, and which is, therefore, one of the most suitable to support a savage population, during a period of prosperity and in an age in which no foreign influence had come to disturb the primitive condition of these tribes, 10,000 inhabitants occupying about 160,000 square miles of territory, being one inhabitant to 16 square miles, or 41 square kilomètres. And for the Souriquois, separately, one inhabitant for about 12 square miles, or about 31 square kilomètres.

The two other statements of Indian population, given above, relate to the years 1736 and 1763. The first is a memoir deposited in the Paris Archives, written by an officer of the French Government, whose name is not given; the second is by Sir William Johnson, and forms part of the English documents entitled, Plantations General Papers.

It is very interesting to compare these two estimates of the number of Indians, made in respect to the same tribes and the same territories at an interval of more than a quarter of a century. We give the summarized table of the information contained in these two memoirs, grouped in such a way as to admit of comparison. Both memoirs give only the number of warriors, that is, about the fifth of the total population, which may thus be determined, in round numbers, as 79,375 souls, according to the French, and fifty-nine thousand nine hundred according to the English memoir, or rather 78,000 by adding the enumeration of the tribes of the Illinois and of the Sioux, Assiniboines and part of the Abénakis, wanting in the English memoirs.

Les Etaminquois (Maléchites d'aujourd'hui) habitaient toute la vallée de la Rivière Saint-Jean, dans le Nouveau-Brunswick, et partie de l'Etat du Maine, s'étendant, en comprenant tout l'intérieur, jusqu'au fleuve Saint-Laurent, dans toute cette région qui fait face à l'Est et à l'Ouest au cours de la Rivière Saint-Jean et de ses affluents; ils étaient 2,500 et leur territoire couvrait, alors, une superficie d'à peu près 40,000 milles carrés ; ils avaient moins de pêche maritime que les Souriquois.

Les Kinibéquis (Abénakis d'aujourd'hui) occupaient partie des Etats du Maine, du Vermont et du New Hampshire, les Etats de Massachusett et de Connecticut, et toute la vallée du Saint-Laurent, rive sud, depuis la Rivière Chaudière jusqu'au pays des Iroquois, et chassaient même sur le littoral de la rive nord du Saint-Laurent; ils étaient 3,000 et leur territoire couvrait une superficie d'environ 55,000 milles anglais : leurs côtes de pêche avaient beaucoup de valeur sans avoir l'importance de celles des Souriquois et des Etaminquois.

Les Montagnets appartenaient à la famille Abénakise : ils chassaient dans les montagnes du New Hampshire et du Vermont et dans cette partie de la Province de Québec qu'on appelle les Cantons de l'Est, et le district de Beauce : ils étaient 1,000 et occupaient environ 20,000 milles carrés de territoire, sans pêche. On a donc,—dans un des pays les plus abondants en chasse et en pêche, un des plus propres par conséquent à supporter une population sauvage nombreuse, et cela dans une période de prospérité et à une époque où nulle influence étrangère n'était encore venue troubler l'état primitif de ces peuples,—10,000 habitants pour environ 160,000 milles carrés de territoire, ou 1 habitant par 16 milles carrés, ou 1 habitant par chaque 41 kilomètres carrés. Et pour les Souriquois, séparément, 1 habitant par environ 12 milles carrés ou à peu près 31 kilomètres carrés.

Les deux autres états de population sauvage, inscrits plus haut, se rapportent aux années 1736 et 1763 : le premier est un Mémoire déposé aux Archives de Paris, et qui est dû à un officier du gouvernement Français dont le nom n'est point donné ; le second est de Sir William Johnson, et fait partie des Documents Anglais intitulés : Plantations General Papers.

Il est fort intéressant de mettre en regard ces deux évaluations du nombre des sauvages, faites pour les mêmes tribus et les mêmes territoires, à plus d'un quart de siècle d'intervalle de temps. Voici le tableau résumé des renseignements de ces deux Mémoires, groupés de manière à pouvoir être comparés ; ces mémoires ne donnent, tous deux, que le nombre des guerriers ; c'est-à-dire environ le cinquième de la population totale, qu'on peut ainsi établir au chiffre de 79,375 âmes, d'après le mémoire français, et à cinquante neuf mille neuf cents âmes, d'après le mémoire anglais, ou plutôt à 78,000, en suppléant à la lacune de ce dernier mémoire qui ne comprend qu'une partie des Abénakis et ne contient point l'énumération des Sioux, des Assiniboines et des Illinois.

	Adding to the English memoir the population omitted therefrom	.....	79,375	.....	73,000

1. The French memoir mentions that the Abenakis and Mohicans (les Loups) reckon 600 warriors (3,000 souls) from Boston to Virginia, but this section of the nation is not included in the enumeration

2. Sir William Johnson's memoir says that his report is incomplete as regards the Abenakis; mention is only made in it of the St. Francis Indians.

3. The increase was caused by the immigration of the Algonquin races to Canada from the United States, of the Ottawas, Potowatamis, Sauteux, &c., &c., from Lake Huron as far as the limits of Swan River District, North West.

4. The increase of the Iroquois was caused by the adoption and incorporation of tribes.

5, 6. The English memoir says that the census of these tribes could not be made.

7. This enormous decrease was caused by the atrocious wars waged by these nations, confined within too narrow limits, the massacres producing an excess of deaths over births; together with the Emigration to Canada and the adoption of the small tribes into the Iroquois Confederation; (see notes 3 and 4). Thus the Algonquin races of Canada increased by 9,175 souls, the Hurons by 150, and the Iroquois of the United States by 5,600, whilst the numerous tribes last mentioned have decreased by 16,250. The Iroquois of Canada appear to have suffered a diminution of 50 during the same period.

1. Le mémoire français mentionne que les Abénakis et les Loups (Mohicans) comptaient 600 guerriers (3,000 âmes), de Boston jusqu'en Virginie ; mais cette section de la nation n'est pas énumérée dans le mémoire.

2. Le mémoire de Sir William Johnson dit que ce rapport est incomplêt pour les Abénakis ; il n'y est fait mention que des sauvages de Saint-François.

3. L'augmentation s'était faite par l'immigration des races Algonquines des Etats-Unis au Canada, des Outaouais, Poutouatamis, Sauteux, &c., &c., depuis le lac Huron jusqu'aux limites du district de la Rivière au Cygne, Nord-Ouest.

4. L'augmentation des Iroquois s'était faite par adoption et incorporation de tribus.

5, 6. Le mémoire anglais dit qu'on n'a pas pu faire le recensement de ces tribus.

7. Cette énorme diminution a eu pour cause les guerres atroces que se faisaient ces nations, resserrées sur un espace trop étroit, lesquelles guerres rendaient, par les massacres, la mortalité supérieure aux naissances, avec l'Emigration vers le Canada et l'adjonction de petites tribus à la Confédération Iroquoise ; (voir les notes 3 et 4) : ainsi les races Algonquines du Canada ont augmenté de 9,175 âmes, les Hurons de 150, et les Iroquois des Etat-Unis de 5,600, pendant que les nombreuses tribus, en dernier lieu mentionnées, ont diminué de 16,250. Les Iroquois du Canada ont subi une diminution de 50 dans le même temps.

In order to compare these two memoirs, there must first be added to the sum contained in the English memoir, the numbers representing the clans not enumerated in it, namely: The Abenakis of the St. John River, 490 warriors; the Illinois, 600 warriors, and the Sioux-Assiniboines, 2,530 warriors; in all, 3,620 warriors, representing a population of about 18,100 souls. Adding this number to the total amount of 59,900 for the year 1763, there is shown a total of 78,000, as against 79,375 for the year 1736, or a decrease of 1,375 on the whole of this population.

The superficies occupied by these tribes is the same for both periods, about 1,000,000 square miles (2,590,000 kilomètres) for that part of the population situated in the United States; including the States and territories mentioned in the Table. The aboriginal population of this territory numbering, by the complete memoir, 61,800 in 1736, gives 1 inhabitant for each 16 square miles; but very unequally distributed, varying between a minimum of 14 miles and a maximum of 28 miles per head; and for the portion of the territory situated on the Canadian side composed of localities enumerated in the Table, in all nearly 650,000 square miles (1,683,000 kilomètres) the aboriginal population, which in 1736 was 17,575 souls, gives about one inhabitant to each 37 square miles. From 1736 to 1763 the aboriginal population mentioned in the two memoirs had, as a whole, undergone a total diminution of upwards of 1,375 souls. But it must be remarked that this diminution (as well as the changes to lesser numbers caused by migrations) took place in the most densely populated territory, (where the hunting grounds were 14 miles square per head). The population on the Canadian side, hunting over 37 square miles per head, increased by about 9,275 souls during that interval, while the other, on the American side, taken as a whole, had lost 10,650. In the United States again the tribes who cultivated the land and were possessed of 28 miles per head of hunting ground, have increased when the others diminished. The increase on the Canadian side is due principally to the immigration from the United States; for it is a fact, ascertained since the North American tribes have been known, that they, in the long run, and taken as a whole, remain stationary, in point of population, when they do not diminish. The immigration took place in consequence of the territories on the Canadian side having been depopulated by the wars of extermination of the preceding period.

By the Census of 1871, an exact enumeration has for the first time been made of the aboriginal population within the limits of the Province of Prince Edward Island (323), of Nova Scotia (1,666), of New Brunswick (1,403), of Quebec (6,988), and of Ontario (12,978), showing a total for these five Provinces of 23,358.

However, as the Census has recorded this population only by localities and not by tribes, it has been thought desirable to supply this deficiency, and at the same time to try to establish the number of the indigenous population throughout the whole extent of the British possessions in North America, together with the approximate extent of the superficies inhabited by each of the tribes, or groups of tribes; the result of which will be found summarized in the Table which follows. The information has been drawn from the Census of 1871, from the writings and notes of the missionaries; from reports, works and memoirs published at different periods, and from details received, viva voce, from persons who have been in intimate relations with these clans. The part of the indigenous population, of which the least is known, is that in British Columbia. For this reason, as is usual in such cases, their numbers have almost always

Pour comparer ces deux Mémoires, il faut d'abord ajouter au chiffre total du mémoire anglais les montants qui représentent les peuplades non recensées dans ce mémoire, savoir :— les Abénakis de la Rivière Saint-Jean : 490 guerriers ; les Illinois : 600 guerriers; et les Sioux-Assiniboines : 2,530 guerriers : en tout 3,620 guerriers ; une population, conséquemment, d'environ 18,100 âmes. Ajouté fait de cette population au chiffre total de 59,900, du mémoire de l'année 1763, on a 78,000 âmes pour cette dernière année, contre 79,375 en 1736, accusant une diminution, sur tout l'ensemble, de 1,375 âmes.

La superficie habitée est la même pour les deux époques pour les mêmes populations, environ 1,000,000 de milles carrés (2,590,000 kilomètres) pour la partie de la population située dans les Etats-Unis, et comprenant les Etats et Territoires désignés dans le Tableau. La population aborigène de cette région nombrant, en 1736, par le mémoire complet, 61,800, c'est donc en gros 1 habitant par chaque 16 milles carrés ; mais diversement distribués, variant d'un minimum de 14 milles à un maximum de 28 milles par tête. Pour la portion de territoire située du côté Canadien et comprenant les lieux indiqués au Tableau, en tout à peu près 650,000 milles carrés (1,683,000 kilomètres) : la population aborigène y étant, en 1736, de 17,575, c'est donc 1 habitant environ par chaque 37 milles carrés. De 1736 à 1763, la population aborigène mentionnée aux deux mémoires a subi, dans son ensemble, une diminution totale de 1,375 âmes ; mais il y a ceci à remarquer, c'est que cette diminution (de même que les changements en moins causés par les migrations) a porté exclusivement sur la partie la plus densement peuplée, (chassant dans 14 milles carrés par tête). La population du côté Canadien, chassant dans 37 milles carrés par tête, a augmenté, dans cet intervalle de temps, de 9,275, quand celle du côté Américain a diminué dans son ensemble, de 10,650 âmes. Du côté des Etats-Unis, encore, les tribus cultivant la terre et ayant 28 milles par tête à chasser ont augmenté, en même temps que diminuaient les autres peuplades. L'augmentation, du côté Canadien, est due surtout à l'immigration venue du côté Américain ; car les populations aborigènes de l'Amérique du Nord, depuis qu'on les connait, restent, en somme, à la longue année et prises comme un tout, au même chiffre de population quand elles ne décroissent pas. L'immigration qui s'est faite a eu lieu en conséquence de ce que les guerres d'extermination de la période précédente avaient laissé sans habitants de grands territoires du côté Canadien.

Pour la première fois, par le Recensement de 1871, un dénombrement exact de la population aborigène a été fait dans les limites des Provinces de l'Isle du Prince-Edouard, (323,) de la Nouvelle-Ecosse, (1,663,) du Nouveau-Brunswick, (1,403,) de Québec, (6,988,) et d'Ontario, (12,978,) constatant en tout, pour ces cinq Provinces, une population aborigène de 23,358.

Toutefois, comme le recensement n'a enrégistré cette population que par localités et point par tribus, on a songé à suppléer à cette lacune et, en même temps, à établir les chiffres de la population indigène pour toute l'étendue des possessions anglaises du Nord-Amérique, avec aussi le chiffre approximatif de la superficie de territoire habitée par chacune des tribus ou groupes de tribus : travail qui se trouve résumé dans le Tableau qui va suivre. Les renseignements ont été puisés dans les recensements de 1871, dans les écrits et les notes des Missionnaires, dans les rapports, ouvrages et mémoires publiés à diverses époques, et dans des rapports obtenus de vive voix de personnes ayant été en relations intimes avec ces peuplades. La partie de population aborigène de beaucoup la moins bien connue, sous le rapport du nombre, est celle de la Colombie Britannique, et c'est been exaggerated. These tribes belong exclusively to the Dénè race and have been classified according to the excellent division made by Dr. Latham. (The Natural History of the Varieties of Man). The part which is now best known, outside of the limits of the older Provinces, is that on the territory of the Athabaska-Mackenzie, thanks to the admirable paper published in 1874 by the Reverend Father Petitot, Oblat missionary.

It would be impossible to enumerate all the names given to the indigenous tribes and sub-tribes of North America, nor the languages that have been counted out of dialects of the same mother tongues, very frequently the same small groups of nomads have had different names bestowed on them, from their having been encountered in different places by different travellers. The names given in the following Table are those sanctioned by history or by the authority of ethnographers to mark the distinct groups; there are added to each, letters indicating the race to which the tribe belongs.

All the aboriginal families of British America are divided into four races. These four races are: 1. That of the Esquimaux, or Innok (plural Innoit). 2. That called the Dénè-Dindjié. 3. That of the Algonquins, or the Algic race. 4. That of the Huron-Iroquois.

In the following Table, letters are placed after the names of the tribes, to indicate to which of the four great races each tribe belongs; AL. for the Algonquin race; H. I. for the Huron-Iriquois race; D. D. for the Dénè-Dindjié race; and IN. for the Esquimaux race. (Innok.—Innoït.)

The word villagier has been made to indicate the mode of living in villages which has been adopted by several of the aboriginal tribes or sub-tribes in the settled parts of the country. These villagiers almost always engage a little in hunting and fishing, in cultivation of the land; but most maintain themselves chiefly by the exercise of various industries, such as the dressing of skins, the making of snow shoes, mocassins and fancy articles prepared by the women. In certain places the men work in the lumber shanties, and serve as guides and carriers in explorations or hunting excursions. Some have become well-to-do farmers.

The small Map which accompanies this Table is given to enable the reader to easily form an idea of the territory occupied by each aboriginal group, of the relative extent of the hunting grounds and of their situation as to the maritime shores or fisheries of the interior. The figures of reference pertain alike to the Table and the map.

It is scarcely necessary to say that the hunting grounds of each Indian tribe are not actually marked off by precise and invariable limits, like those which divide the Provinces of an organized country from one another, and that, therefore, the figures, beyond those taken from the Census of 1871, are only approximate. As to the calculations of the superficies, they have, in common with the rest of the work, been very carefully made, and it is confidently believed they do not yield in point of exactitude to the estimates made from time to time (which all necessarily vary) of the superficies of the unsurveyed regions of the American continent. From the total superficies, shown in the Table by tribal occupancy, and given in detail hereafter, for each Province, the bays and the great estuaries have been eliminated. Newfoundland and Anticosti, which have no aboriginal population, are not included in the superficies of the Table, but are afterwards mentioned; Newfoundland separately, Anticosti in the superficies of Quebec.

précisément à cause de cela que le chiffre de cette population a toujours été considérablement exagéré. Les tribus de la Colombie appartiennent toutes à la race Dénè; elles ont été classées dans ce travail d'après l'excellente division qu'en a faite le Dr. Latham. (The Natural History of the Varieties of Man.) La partie la mieux connue, maintenant, en dehors des anciennes provinces, est le territoire de l'Athabaska—Mackenzie, grâce à la belle étude de cette région qu'a publiée, en 1874, le Révérend Père Petitot, Missionnaire Oblat.

Il serait impossible d'énumérer tous les noms qu'on a donnés aux tribus et aux sous-tribus indigènes du Nord-Amérique et de faire la liste du nombre de dialectes qu'on a comptés comme langues distinctes. Souvent, très-souvent, on attribue aux mêmes petits groupes nomades des noms différents, selon qu'un voyageur les a rencontrés dans un endroit, et un autre voyageur, dans un autre. Les noms, donnés dans le Tableau suivant, sont les noms consacrés par l'histoire ou par l'autorité des ethnographes pour désigner les grands groupes.

Toutes les familles aborigènes de l'Amérique Britannique se partagent entre quatre races. Ces quatre races sont: 1. Celle des Esquimaux ou Innok (pluriel Innoït); 2. Celle dite des Dénè-Dindjié; 3. Celle des Algonquins ou la race Algique; 4. Celle des Hurons-Iroquois.

A la suite de chaque nom de tribu, dans le Tableau qui suit, on a inséré des lettres qui indiquent à quelle des quatre grandes races cette tribu appartient: AL. pour la race Algique; H.-I. pour la race Huronne-Iroquoise; D.D. pour la race Dénè-Dindjié, et IN. pour la race des Esquimaux.

On a imaginé le mot villagier, pour indiquer cette manière qu'ont adopté, dans les parties colonisées du pays, plusieurs tribus ou sous-tribus aborigènes de vivre en villages. Ces villagiers font toujours un peu de chasse et de pêche, un peu de culture de la terre; mais ils vivent surtout de diverses industries, telles que le passage des peaux, la fabrique de raquettes, de souliers-mous, d'objets de fantaisie confectionnés par les femmes. Dans certains endroits, les hommes travaillent dans les chantiers à bois, et servent de guides et de porteurs dans les explorations et les chasses de plaisir. Quelques-uns sont devenus des cultivateurs à l'aise.

La petite Carte qui accompagne ce Tableau, en le complétant, permettra au lecteur de se faire une idée nette des endroits occupés par chaque groupe aborigène, et de l'étendue relative des pays de chasse, et de leur situation, par rapport aux côtes maritimes et aux grandes pêches de l'intérieur. Les numéros d'ordre se réfèrent également au Tableau et à la Carte.

Il n'est pas besoin de dire que les territoires de chasse de chaque tribu sauvage ne sont point marqués en fait, par des limites précises et invariables comme celles qui divisent l'une de l'autre les provinces d'un pays organisé, et que, par conséquent, les localisations et les chiffres fournis ne sont qu'approximatifs, en dehors de cette partie des données qui sont empruntées au Recensement de 1871. Quant aux calculs des superficies, ils ont, comme le reste, été faits avec un grand soin, et on a la confiance qu'ils ne le cèdent point, en exactitude, aux évaluations faites de temps à autre (qui toutes nécessairement varient) de la superficie des régions non arpentées du continent d'Amérique. Dans l'ensemble des superficies portées au Tableau par occupation des tribus et données en détails, ci-après, pour chaque Province, on a éliminé la superficie des Baies et des Grands Estuaires. Les isles de Terreneuve et d'Anticosti, qui n'ont point de population aborigène, ne sont pas incluses dans les superficies du Tableau; mais elles sont inscrites plus loin: Terreneuve séparément, Anticosti, dans la superficie de la Province de Québec.

It will be seen that taking the whole of the aboriginal population of British North America, including the few tribes who live chiefly by agricultural and industrial pursuits in the settled Provinces, as well as the tribes placed in exceptionally unfavorable conditions in Arctic climates, the mean inhabited superficies is 34 square miles per head. Eliminating from the calculation these two extremes in the scale of comparison, the mean falls to about 25 square miles per head, the minimum being about 10 square miles per head; the maximum being found in the most rigorous climates, and the minimum exclusively where there are abundant sea coast fisheries. In the best hunting grounds, with a temperate climate, in the absence of extensive fisheries and of cultivation of the soil, the increase of the Indian population to a larger number than 1 inhabitant to 15 square miles causes misery and disease, or incursions upon neighbouring territories and consequent warfare.

Sir George Simpson, in 1857, in his replies to the Special Committee of the British House of Commons appointed to enquire at that date into the affairs of the Hudson's Bay Company, again points out (Page 58 of the Report) the fact of these periodical oscillations of increase and decrease among the Indians. He points out that the tribes of the Western woods, after having been decimated by disease for several years, were at that time passing through a period of increase, whilst the prairie tribes were at the same time suffering from decrease caused by tribal wars and disease.

The information given in the preceding Table and the small chart accompanying it, may be thus summarised :—

As regards RACES, there are upon British North American territory :—

Of the Algic Race	46,028
" Dénè-Dindjie Race	42,000
" Huron-Iroquois Race	10,330
" Innok Race	4,000
	102,358

As regards MODE OF LIVING—

Living chiefly by Fishing, about	23,000
" in Camps, by Prairie Hunting, about	18,000
" in Villages in Settled Districts, about	17,358
" by Families in the Woods, about	44,000
	102,358

As regards the GENERAL GEOGRAPHICAL DIVISION of the Continent—

West of the Rocky Mountains, about	26,000
East " " "	76,358
	102,358

On voit qu'à prendre tout ensemble la population aborigène du Nord-Amérique Britannique, en tenant compte des quelques tribus qui vivent surtout de culture et d'industrie au sein des provinces colonisées comme des tribus placées dans des conditions exceptionnellement défavorables des climats arctiques, la moyenne superficie habitée est de 34 milles carrés par tête. Eliminant du calcul les peuplades plus haut désignées, qui occupent les deux extrémités de l'échelle de comparaison, la moyenne tombe à environ 25 milles carrés par tête, le minimum étant d'environ 10 milles carrés par tête ; le maximum se rencontrant au sein des climats les plus rigoureux et le minimum où la pêche des côtes maritimes abonde et seulement là. Dans les meilleurs pays de chasse de la région des climats modérés, en l'absence de grande pêche et de culture importante, l'élévation du chiffre de la population sauvage au-dessus de 1 habitant par 15 milles carrés amène la souffrance et la maladie, ou l'incursion sur les territoires voisins et la guerre qui en est la suite.

Sir George Simpson, répondant, en 1857, au comité spécial de la Chambre des Communes d'Angleterre, dans l'Enquête instituée à cette époque sur les affaires de la Compagnie de la Baie d'Hudson, signale (Page 58 du Rapport) de nouveau le fait de ces oscillations périodiques d'augmentation et de diminution que subissent les populations sauvages. Il constate que les tribus des forêts de l'Ouest, après avoir été décimées par la maladie pendant plusieurs années, en étaient alors à une période d'augmentation de population, tandis que les tribus de la prairie se trouvaient, dans le même temps, sous le faix d'une diminution causée par les guerres de clans et la maladie.

On peut résumer les résultats de l'étude consignée dans le Tableau qui précède et sur la petite Carte qui accompagne, comme suit :—

Sous le rapport des RACES, on compte, sur le territoire Britannique du Nord-Amérique :—

The testimony given to the Special Committee of the British Commons in 1857, by Sir George Simpson, who was for thirty-seven years Governor of the Hudson Bay Territories in America, has been referred to above. Sir George at the same time laid before the Committee a Memorandum prepared by the officers of the Company, as to the population of the trading country covered by their forts; that is, the aboriginal population of 1856 in Labrador, the still unsettled northern parts of Quebec and Ontario, all Rupert's Land, the Athabaska-Mackenzie, British Columbia, the coasts and islands in Russian America bordering on British Columbia, the American territories of Washington, Idaho, Oregon, and part of the territory of Montana.* As this Memorandum was furnished by the Hudson Bay Company, it possesses such importance that it is deemed desirable to reprint it here in full.

It should be remarked here that the fifteen years which have elapsed between the date of the preparation of the Hudson Bay Company's Memorandum (1856) and that to which the Table in this work refers (1871) have not produced, in fact, any notable change in the number, or mode of life of the aboriginal populations depending on hunting and fishing in the unsettled regions of British North America.

* This was in 1857. Since, the relations of the Hudson's Bay Company with the American territories have been altered. In fulfilment of the Treaty of 1863 (ratified and proclaimed in 1864), for the final settlement of the claims of the Hudson's Bay and of the Puget's Sound Agricultural Companies, the decision of the appointed Commissioners was arrived at in 1869, awarding to the Hudson's Bay Company $450,000 and to the Puget's Sound Agricultural Company $200,000 for the release and transfer of all their possessory rights and claims.

Sous le rapport des DIVISIONS TERRITORIALES, on compte :

On a parlé, plus haut, du témoignage donné au Comité spécial des Communes d'Angleterre, en 1857, par Sir George Simpson, qui a été pendant trente-sept ans Gouverneur des Territoires de la Compagnie de la Baie d'Hudson en Amérique. Sir George produisit en même temps devant le Comité un Mémoire préparé par les officiers de la Compagnie, sur la population des pays de traite couverts par leurs comptoirs ; c'est-à-dire la population aborigène, existant en 1856 dans le Labrador, les parties nord non encore colonisées des Provinces de Québec et d'Ontario, toutes les terres de Rupert, l'Athabaska-Mackenzie, la Colombie Britannique, les côtes et les isles de l'Amérique Russe confinant à la Colombie, les territoires Américains de Washington, d'Idaho, d'Orégon et partie du territoire de Montana.* Comme ce Mémoire, émané de la Compagnie de la Baie d'Hudson, a une importance capitale, il importe de le reproduire ici dans toute son intégrité.

Il faut ici remarquer que les quinze années qui se sont écoulées depuis l'époque de la préparation du Mémoire de la Baie d'Hudson (1856) et l'époque à laquelle se réfère le Tableau de cet ouvrage (1871) n'ont apporté, en fait, aucun changement notable, dans le nombre et dans la manière d'être des populations aborigènes vivant de chasse et de pêche au sein des régions non colonisées de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord.

* Ceci a trait à l'année 1857. Depuis ce temps-là, les rapports de la Compagnie de la Baie d'Hudson avec les territoires Américains sont changés. En exécution du Traité de 1863 (ratifié et proclamé en 1864), pour le réglement final des réclamations de la Compagnie de la Baie d'Hudson et de la Compagnie Agricole du Détroit de Puget, les Commissaires nommés ont rendu leur décision (en 1869), accordant à la première de ces Compagnies $450,000 et à la seconde $200,000 pour l'abandon aux Etats-Unis de tous leurs droits possessoires.

"INDIAN POPULATION.

"It is a matter of great difficulty to obtain reliable information respecting the Indian "population, their migratory habits, and the vast extent of country over which they are "spread, misleading the calculations, and rendering it almost impracticable to prepare a "satisfactory Census. The following estimates have been compiled with great care, from a "mass of documents and the actual personal knowledge of several of the Company's "officers, tested by comparison with published statements, especially those presented to "Government in 1846 by Messrs. Warre and Vavasour, and those of Colonel Lefroy, R.A., "contained in a paper read before the Canadian Institute.

"POPULATION SAUVAGE.

"Il est très difficile d'obtenir des informations correctes sur les populations sauvages ; les "habitudes nomades et la vaste étendue de pays sur la quelle elles sont dispersées induisent en "erreur et rendent presqu'impossibles les travaux de dénombrement. L'estimé qui suit a été "compilé avec un grand soin, d'une masse de documents ; les connaisances personnelles de "plusieurs des officiers de la Compagnie ont aussi été mises à contribution et le tout a été com-"paré avec divers rapports publiés, notamment avec les rapports présentés au Gouvernement "en 1846 par MM. Warre et Vavasour, et le Mémoire lu devant l'Institut Canadien par le "Colonel Lefroy, de l'Artillerie Royale.

The memorandum is reprinted here as it is, without taking account of a slight difference between the figures in detail and the addition. This slight difference may either arise from an error in details or addition it cannot therefore be corrected, and is, besides, of little consequence.

In the examination of this memorandum it is desirable to consider separately the population living to the East from that living to the West of the Rocky Mountains, as represented in the aggregate contained in the summary at the end of the memorandum.

With respect to the East, the number of 35,000, representing the population of the woods (outside of the Provinces), is evidently overrated. 1. From the fact that the white and half-breed population registered with the aboriginal population is represented by a lessened number. 2. From the fact that the number of the aboriginal population within the limits of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec (Canada) is also made too small. The figure, 25,000, representing the population of the Prairie Indians, includes a comparatively large number of Indians belonging to the American territory, and is, consequently, by so much in excess of the number of that population in British territory.

Sir George Simpson must have observed all this, as in his evidence, instead of adopting the total number 147,000 in the Memorandum, he gave the Committee 139,000 as being the number of the whole Indian population under the rule of the Company, throughout the whole North American Continent (Page 57 of the Report). He thus apportions the aboriginal population in the British territory to the East of the Rocky Mountains : In Rupert's Land, 42,840 (that item is made to include the Quebec and Ontario Indians, trading with the Company) ; in Athabaska-Mackenzie, which he calls Indian Territory, 12,730 ; in the Esquimaux country, 4,000, of which he makes a total in round numbers, of 59,000 (Page 57 of Committee's Report). So far Sir George Simpson's estimate agrees, not in details but in its general results, with that in the Table given in this Volume. The Table, again, agrees on the whole with the Memorandum laid before the Committee, if the error pointed out is corrected, and if, as Sir George seems to have done, the American quota of the tribes is deducted, of whom he says in his answers (Page 102 of the Committee's Report), "They wander from the Missouri to the banks of the Saskatchewan." In the Table of this volume only that part of the population belonging to British America is spoken of.

The Memorandum and Sir George Simpson both assign 80,000 of the aboriginal population to the territories then administered by the Company, to the West of the Rocky Mountains, from the northern extremity as far as and including Oregon, and from the summits of the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean, including Vancouver's and other islands, and the coasts and islands on the southern belt of the Russian territory of Alaska (leased to the Company at an annual rent of £1500 sterling).

On examining the Memorandum carefully, in its details concerning the Indian population of the West of the Rocky Mountains, there must at once be detected an error, fortunately great enough and manifest enough not to escape notice, which has slipped into this document, either from the fault of the copyist or the printer, but the amount of which has been added to, and forms part of the total.

There is assigned to the jurisdiction of Fort Simpson on the Pacific coast a population

Le Mémoire est ici reproduit tel quel, sans tenir compte d'une légère différence qui existe entre les chiffres inscrits au détail et l'addition ; cette différence insignifiante pouvant être tout aussi bien une erreur dans les détails qu'une erreur dans l'addition, ne saurait être corrigée, ce qui, du reste, importe peu.

Dans l'examen de ce Mémoire, il convient d'étudier séparément la population qui habite à l'Est de celle qui habite à l'Ouest des Montagnes Rocheuses, et telles que représentées en gros dans le résumé qui termine le Mémoire. .

Pour ce qui concerne l'Est, le chiffre de 35,000 donné pour représenter la population des forêts, en dehors des Provinces, est évidemment surfait ; 1o du chef que la population blanche et métisse inscrite avec la population aborigène y est représentée par un chiffre atténué ; 2o du chef que le chiffre de la population aborigène située dans les limites des Provinces d'Ontario et de Québec (Canada) y est aussi amoindri. Le chiffre de 25,000 donné pour représenter la population des sauvages des Prairies comprend un nombre comparativement considérable de sauvages du territoire Américain, et par conséquent est de beaucoup en excès du chiffre de cette population habitant le territoire Britannique.

Sir George Simpson s'était aperçu de tout cela, puisque, dans son témoignage, au lieu d'adopter le chiffre total de 147,000 du Mémoire, il donne au Comité le chiffre de 139,000 comme étant celui de toute la population sauvage soumise à l'autorité de la Compagnie dans toute l'étendue du continent Nord-Américain (Page 57 du Rapport). Il partage ainsi la population aborigène du Territoire Britannique, à l'Est des Montagnes Rocheuses : dans les Terres de Rupert, 42,840. (Ce chiffre comprend les aborigènes des Provinces d'Ontario et de Québec qui sont en relation de commerce avec la Compagnie) ; dans l'Athabaska-Mackenzie, qu'il appelle Territoire Sauvage, 12,730 ; dans le pays Esquimaux 4,000 ; dont il fait un total, en chiffres ronds, de 59,000 (Page 57 du Rapport du Comité). Jusqu'ici l'évaluation de Sir George Simpson s'accorde, non dans les détails mais en somme, avec celle à laquelle on est arrivé dans le Tableau de ce volume. Le Tableau s'accorde encore, en somme avec le Mémoire mis devant le Comité, si l'on corrige les erreurs signalées plus haut, et si l'on déduit, comme semble l'avoir fait Sir George, la quote-part américaine des tribus dont il dit, dans ses réponses (Page 102 du Rapport du Comité) : "Elles errent du Missouri aux bords de la Saskatchiouane ;" car dans le Tableau, on ne parle que de la partie de ces populations qui échoit à l'Amérique Britannique.

Le Mémoire, et Sir George Simpson, d'après le Mémoire, attribuent 80,000 âmes de population aborigène aux territoires alors administrés par la Compagnie, à l'Ouest des Montagnes Rocheuses, depuis l'extrême Nord jusqu'à l'Orégon inclusivement et des sommets des Montagnes Rocheuses à l'Océan Pacifique, avec et y compris l'Isle Vancouver, les autres Isles et les Côtes et Isles de la lisière sud du territoire de l'Alaska (louées à la Compagnie moyennant une redevance annuelle de £1,500 sterling).

En examinant avec soin le Mémoire, dans ses détails, concernant la population aborigène de l'Ouest des Montagnes Rocheuses, on ne peut manquer de reconnaitre à l'instant qu'une erreur, heureusement assez énorme et assez manifeste pour ne pouvoir donner le change, s'est glissée dans ce document, laquelle ne peut être qu'une erreur de copiste ou d'impression, mais dont le montant a été additionné et fait partie du total.

En effet, on attribue à la juridiction du Fort Simpson, de la côte du Pacifique, une population de 45,000 âmes (10,000 + 35,000) ; c'est à dire beaucoup plus de la moitié de toute la of 45,000 souls (10,000 + 35,000). That is a number much greater than half of the total population assigned in the same document, to the whole of British Columbia, the North West, west of the Rocky Mountains, part of Alaska, the territories of Washington, Idaho, Oregon and part of Montana taken together, for about the 10th part of the extent of territory, which is very little above the mean conditions of all the circumstances of the climate, situation and resources of these regions, whilst at the same time all the neighbouring posts are given their full contingents of population. In other words it is estimating at more than 56 per cent. the population of 10 per cent. of the space occupied, everything else being almost equal on an average. By a careful consideration of the state of things, the fact becomes clear that there was a population of about 4,500 (1,000 + 3,500) resorting to that post, and it is more than probable that that was the figure given by the officers who replied to the enquiry respecting the Fort Simpson district.

The aboriginal population here mentioned in the Memorandum of the Hudson Bay Company, to the West of the Rocky Mountains, could not then be estimated at 80,000, but at about 39,500. Now, as a good deal more than a third of the space occupied is situated in the Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Alaska Territories, it is reasonable to subtract more than a third from this number to ascertain the number of the Indian population in the British Possessions to the west of the Rocky Mountains. By adding to the residue a number sufficient to represent the portions of tribes of the western watersheds of the extreme North-West, not comprised in British Columbia nor counted in the 4,500 attributed to Fort Simpson (The Memorandum has included them with forts Halkett, Youcon and Peel), we obtain the approximate number of 26,000 to represent the aboriginal population in British North American territory, West of the Rocky Mountains, which number has been adopted in the Table as follows :—23,000 in British Columbia and 3,000 outside of that Province. It should be remembered that several of the Hudson's Bay Company forts, situated on British territory, trade with a comparatively large Indian population coming from the American side and from Alaska.

The details necessarily differ considerably according to the mode adopted of localising the aboriginal populations, either by tribes and hunting and fishing grounds, as is done in the Table, or by places for councils and treaties, or by trading posts, and the only way to compare the results of the calculations made from these different points of view, is to do so as a whole. The comparative facility for transport, the difference in the prices of articles (which vary according to posts), and other considerations lead populations, which are comparatively near to a post, very often to trade with posts at a great distance, and even to frequent various posts. All these circumstances must be taken into account to judge properly as to the state of affairs, and it is for this reason that the Company's Memorandum, giving the enumeration of the trading posts or forts, has been put beside the ethnographical table prepared for this work.

This INTRODUCTION may be properly concluded by the complete account of the territorial superficies and tables of the population of the different parts of British North America, the whole referring as the fixed period, to the year 1871.

population de la Colombie Britannique, de la région Ouest du Nord-Ouest, de partie de l'Alaska, des territoires de Washington, d'Idaho, d'Orégon, et de partie de Montana pris ensemble, pour la 10e partie environ de l'étendue du territoire, et cela dans des conditions très peu audessus de la moyenne de l'ensemble des circonstances de climat, de situation et de ressources de ces régions : et alors que tous les postes voisins accusent leurs pleins contingents de population. En d'autres termes, plus de 56 par cent de la population, pour 10 par cent de l'espace occupé, toutes choses étant presqu'égales d'ailleurs. Par une étude attentive de la question on ne tarde pas à se convaincre du fait que c'est une population d'environ 4,500 (1,000 + 3,500) qui ressortit à ce Poste de la Compagnie, et il est plus que probable que c'est ce chiffre qui a été donné par les officiers qui répondaient à l'enquête pour la circonscription du Fort Simpson.

Ce n'est donc pas 80,000 âmes, que compte la population aborigène désignée dans le Mémoire de la Compagnie, à l'Ouest des Montagnes Rocheuses, mais environ 39,500. Or, comme beaucoup plus d'un tiers de l'espace occupé est situé dans les territoires d'Orégon, d'Idaho, de Montana, de Washington et d'Alaska, il est raisonnable de soustraire plus d'un tiers de ce chiffre pour arriver à celui de la population sauvage située dans les Possessions Britanniques, à l'Ouest des Montagnes Rocheuses : en ajoutant au résidu un chiffre suffisant, pour représenter les portions de tribus des versants Ouest de l'extrême Nord-Ouest non comprises dans la Colombie Britannique non plus que dans la population de 4,500 attribuée au Fort Simpson (Le Mémoire les compte aux forts Halkett, Youcon et Peel), c'est au chiffre approximatif de 26,000 qu'on arrive. C'est le chiffre adopté dans le Tableau, comme suit : 23,000 dans la province de la Colombie Britannique et 3,000 situés en dehors de cette Province. Il ne faut pas perdre de vue que plusieurs des postes établis sur le territoire Britannique sont fréquentés par une population aborigène, comparativement considérable, venant de l'Alaska et des territoires Américains.

Les détails diffèrent nécessairement, selon que la localisation des populations aborigènes s'établit par tribus et par lieux de chasse et de pêche, comme on le fait dans le Tableau, ou par lieux de rendez-vous des Conseils et des Traités, ou par Postes de traite, et le seul moyen de comparer les résultats de calculs, faits à ces différents points de vue, est de le faire comme ensemble. La facilité comparative des transports, la différence du prix des articles (qui varient selon les postes) et d'autres considérations font que des populations comparativement voisines d'un poste vont souvent traiter avec un poste très éloigné ; les mêmes populations souvent même fréquentent divers postes. Il faut tenir compte de toutes ces circonstances pour bien juger des choses, et c'est pour cela qu'on a donné ici, à côté du Tableau ethnographique, confectionné pour le présent ouvrage, le Mémoire de la Compagnie qui donne l'énumération des postes ou Forts de traite.

Il convient de terminer cette INTRODUCTION par le compte complêt des superficies territoriales et des états de population des diverses parties du Nord-Amérique Britannique, le tout se référant à l'année 1871, comme époque.

The number of the aboriginal population here assigned to the Province of Manitoba, is made up only of the Indians for whom that Province constitutes the hunting and fishing territory, and which necessarily differs from that supplied by the reports and memoranda which register the population by groups assembled for Trade or Counsel.

It is seen in the Report of the Honourable the Minister of the Interior for 1875, that an important part of the territories of the North-West (including the Province of Manitoba), has been the subject of various treaties, by which the Indians have abandoned, for certain considerations, their rights as first occupants, to the Federal Government. An aboriginal population amounting to 13,944 souls, is included in these treaties.

Le chiffre de la population aborigène attribuée à la Province de Manitoba ne tient ici compte que des sauvages dont cette Province constitue le territoire de chasse et de pêche, chiffre qui diffère nécessairement de celui que fournissent les rapports et mémoires qui enregistrent la population par groupes formés pour la Traite ou pour les Conseils.

On voit dans le Rapport de l'Honorable Ministre de l'Intérieur, pour l'année 1875, qu'une importante étendue des territoires du Nord-Ouest (la Province de Manitoba comprise) a été le sujet de divers traités, par lesquels les sauvages ont abandonné leurs droits de premiers occupants au Gouvernement Fédéral, moyennant des réserves et des subventions. Une population aborigène s'élevant à 13,944 âmes est comprise dans ces traités.

NOTE.—This Census was taken during the months of February and March, 1666, as ascertained by the examination of Parochial Registers. This nominal Census is in 154 pages of manuscript. It is deposited in the Archives of Paris, and there is a copy in the Parliamentary Library at Ottawa.

The repetition of 21 names, forming five families, has been corrected in the present tables, reducing the total number of the population from 3,236 to 3,215.

The Royal troops, consisting of from 1,000 to 1,200 men, in 24 companies, are not included in the Census. It has been ascertained that the names of thirty ecclesiastics and nuns are wanting, namely, four secular ecclesiastics at Quebec; five at Montreal; ten nuns at Montreal and eleven Jesuits employed in the Indian missions.

The whole of the clergy comprised one Bishop, eighteen Priests and ecclesiastics, thirty-one Jesuit priests and brethren.

There were nineteen Ursulines nuns, twenty-three nuns of the Hospitaller order and four Filles pieuses of the Congregation.

The clergy, nobility, public functionaries and farmers are not indicated in the Census of Professions and Trades.

There had been a somewhat considerable immigration, composed of nobility, farmers and artisans. It also comprised fifty young women, well trained and educated, from an orphanage in Paris.

NOTE.—Ce recensement fut fait durant les mois de Février et Mars 1666, ce qui a été constaté par l'étude des Régistres des Paroisses. Ce recensement nominal forme un manuscrit de 154 pages; il est déposé aux Archives de Paris; la Bibliothèque fédérale, à Ottawa, en possède une copie.

Un double emploi de 21 noms, formant cinq familles, a été corrigé dans les présents tableaux, réduisant le chiffre total de la population de 3,236 à 3,215.

Les troupes du Roi, 1,000 à 1,200 hommes, formés en 24 compagnies, ne sont pas comprises dans ce recensement. On a constaté l'absence des noms de trente ecclésiastiques et religieuses savoir: quatre ecclésiastiques séculiers à Québec, cinq à Montréal, dix religieuses à Montréal et onze Jésuites employés dans les missions sauvages.

Tout le clergé se composait d'un Evêque, de dix-huit Prêtres et ecclésiastiques, de trente-et-un Jésuites prêtres et frères. On comptait dix-neuf religieuses Ursulines, vingt-trois religieuses Hospitalières et quatre Filles pieuses de la Congrégation.

Le clergé, la noblesse, les fonctionnaires et les cultivateurs ne sont pas désignés dans le recensement des professions et métiers.

L'immigration de l'année avait été assez considérable, composée de noblesse, de cultivateurs et d'artisans: elle comptait cinquante jeunes personnes bien élevées et bien instruites, venant d'un orphelinat de Paris.

NOTE.—This Census was taken during the months of September and October, 1667. The figure of 4,312 of population inserted in most documents, as being the addition of this Census is incorrect. The revision made of the manuscript of 234 pages of this Census has proved the total to be 3,918 which has accordingly been given here.

During the years 1667 and 1668, colonisation received a comparatively enormous impulse, since according to a statement sent to France, the following were the numerical results for the year 1668 :—

Number of households—1,139 ;
Population—6,282, of whom 412 were soldiers settled on land ;
Number of arpents under cultivation—15,642 ;
Number of minots of grains harvested—130,978 ;
Number of horned cattle—3,400.

The Royal troops are not included in the enumeration of the population. There were not many in the colony.

The Jesuit's Relation of 1668 shows the existence of shoe and hat manufacturies, and speaks of a proposal to establish manufactures of linen, cloth and leather.

De la POTHERIE speaks of a saw mill at St. Paul's Bay, the property of Monseigneur de Laval, which manufactured 20,000 boards a year (200,000 feet standard measure).

The Iroquois missions were established, formed into five churches, one for each of the five nations : the Agniers, the Onneyouts, the Onnontagues, the Goiogouens and the Tsonnontouans.

Following this rapid advance, which marks the years 1667 and 1668, the progress of the population in spite of the great fecundity of the marriages, underwent a marked retardation, from the small immigration and from the emigration of Coureurs de bois. Between the Census of 1667 and the succeeding Censuses of 1679 and 1681, the statements furnished to France showed the population of the colony to be 6,705 in 1673,—7,832 in 1675,—and 8,415 in 1676.

The documents in Paris contain a statement of the population of the Habitation de Plaisance in the Island of Newfoundland, which may be cited here, as referring to the same period. This stated in it that there were at Plaisance in 1671, 12 households having a population of 73 persons, 44 males and 29 females, of whom there were 14 married men and 12 married women.

The exportations of the colony to the West Indies and to France were beginning then to become important ; —the articles exported were : furs to the amount of about 550,000 francs; codfish dry and salted, other cured fish, oil and woods.

NOTE.—Ce recensement fut exécuté pendant les mois de Septembre et Octobre 1667. Le total de la population que l'on voit porté au chiffre de 4,312, dans la plupart des documents qui parlent de cette époque est le fruit de plusieurs erreurs, qui ont été corrigées ici sur le manuscrit de 234 pages que forme ce recensement ; le chiffre de 3,918 est le chiffre de l'addition revisée et corrigée.

La colonisation reçut, pendant les années 1667 et 1668, une impulsion comparativement énorme, puisque, par un état envoyé en France, on constate les faits numériques suivants pour l'année 1668 :—

Nombre de ménages—1,139 ;
Population 6,282, dont 412 soldats établis sur des terres ;
Nombre d'arpents de terre en culture—15,642 ;
Nombre de minots de grains récoltés—130,978 ;
Nombre de bêtes à cornes—3,400.

Les troupes du Roi ne sont point comprises dans l'énumération de la population ; elles étaient alors très peu nombreuses dans la colonie.

La Relation des Jésuites de 1668 constate l'existence de manufactures de souliers et de chapeaux, et parle du projet d'établir des manufactures de toiles, de draps et de cuirs.

De la POTHERIE parle d'un moulin à scie à la Baie St. Paul, propriété de Monseigneur de Laval, qui manufacturait 20,000 planches par année (200,000 pieds de la mesure actuelle du commerce).

Les missions Iroquoises étaient rétablies et formaient cinq églises, une pour chacune des cinq nations : les Agniers, les Onneyouts, les Onnontagués, les Goiogouens et les Tsonnontouans.

A la suite de l'essor qui signala les années 1667 et 1668, le progrès de la population, malgré la grande fécondité des mariages, a subi un ralentissement marqué, dû à la faible immigration et à l'émigration dite des Coureurs de bois. Entre le recensement de 1667 et des suivants, de 1679 et 1681, les Etats fournis en France portent la population de la colonie à 6,705, en 1673, à 7,832, en 1675, à 8,415 en 1676.

Les Documents de Paris contiennent un état de la population de l'Habitation de Plaisance, dans l'Ile de Terreneuve, qui peut être cité ici comme se référant à la même époque : il y est constaté qu'il y avait à Plaisance en 1671 : 12 ménages, formant une population de 73 personnes, 44 du sexe masculin et 29 du sexe féminin, dont 14 hommes et 12 femmes mariés.

Les exportations de la colonie aux Antilles et en France commençaient à prendre quelqu'importance alors ; les articles ainsi exportés étaient : des fourrures pour une valeur d'environ 550,000 francs ; de la morue séchée et salée et d'autres poissons salés, de l'huile et des bois.

NOTE.—The Census of 1681 was executed in November'; the errors of compilation which have crept in are here corrected,

A statement of population is given for the year, in the letter of Monsieur Duchesneau, of the 13th November, 1680 (Paris Documents), which gives a total of 10,679 souls, and exceeds the number given in the Census of 1681. In this statement, however, M. Duchesneau includes 960 Indians, not mentioned in the census. The number of the Coureurs de bois was estimated at 800, who had left the settlements of the colony and gone to a distance, and were no longer enumerated as part of the population.

In 1683, it is stated that the French population of New France amounted to 10,251 souls. The French population established in Acadia was estimated at 600 souls, for the same year, 1683.

During this period the losses sustained by Emigration were greater than the gains from Immigration, the total result being less than the excess of births over deaths.

NOTE.—Ce Recensement de 1681 a été fait au mois de Novembre ; les erreurs de compilation qui s'y sont glissées sont ici corrigées.

Un état de population est donné pour l'année dans la lettre de Monsieur l'Intendant Duchesneau, du 13 Novembre 1680 (Documents de Paris) ; on y constate un chiffre total de 10,679 hab., ce qui dépasse le chiffre du Recensement de 1681 ; mais dans cet état M. Duchesneau inclue 960 sauvages que ne mentionne pas le recensement. On estimait à 800, alors, le chiffre des Coureurs de bois, partis des établissements de la colonie, épars au loin, et qu'on ne compte plus dans ces recensements et dans ces états de population.

En 1683, on constata que la population française de la Nouvelle-France s'élevait à 10,251 âmes. La population française établie dans l'Acadie est évaluée à 600 âmes, pour la même année 1683.

Pendant cette époque, les pertes subies par l'Emigration étaient plus grandes que les gains constitués par l'Immigration ; car le résultat total est en dessous de l'excédant des naissances sur les décès.

NOTE.—A letter from M. de Denonville, addressed to Paris in 1686, gives the population of the Colony as 12,373 souls. This evidently includes the settled Indian population. Governor Dongan, of New England estimates the French population, at the same period, at 17,000 (London Documents), it being an overrated figure to the amount of over 6,000 souls.

NOTE.—Une lettre de M. de Denonville, adressée à Paris en 1686, porte la population de la colonie au chiffre de 12,373 âmes; cela comprend évidemment la population sauvage établie. Le Gouverneur Dongan, de la Nouvelle Angleterre, évaluait à 17,000 le chiffre de la population française, à la même époque (Documents de Londres), exagération qui s'élève au chiffre de plus de 6,000 âmes.

NOTE.—There were then 64 Seigneuries and 40 rural parishes with resident Curés. On the margin of the Census the Marquis de Seignaley has written: "Seen, and it is desirable that this colony should "increase every year, not only by the addition of French but also of Indians, who should be attracted "as much as possible to live among the French, as after their children shall have been accustomed to our "manners, and shall have been brought up with the French, will form with them only one people."

NOTE.—On comptait alors 64 Seigneuries et 40 Paroisses rurales ayant des Curés résidents. Sur la marge de ce recensement M. le Marquis de Seignaley a écrit: "Vue, et il est à souhaiter de voir "augmenter tous les ans cette colonie, non-seulement par les Français, mais par les Sauvages qu'il faut "attirer autant qu'il se pourra parmi les Français, et qui, après que leurs enfants seront accoutumés à "nos manières et élevés à la française, ne seront plus qu'un peuple avec les Français."

NOTE.—These Censuses were compiled in Paris. The settlement of Beaubassin, in Acadia, was sacked and burned in 1696. The English population of Newfoundland, according to the work called The British Empire in America (edition of 1744, vol I., p. 14), was estimated in 1695 to be 1500 souls.

NOTE.—Ces Recensements ont été compilés à Paris. L'établissement de Beaubassin, dans l'Acadie, avait été saccagé et incendié en 1696. La population Anglaise de Terreneuve, en 1698, était estimée à 1500 âmes, d'après l'ouvrage The British Empire in America (édition de 1744, vol. I., p. 14).

NOTE.—The Census of New France in 1706 shows a want of agreement between the tables of population by localities and population by age. An examination of preceding and succeeding censuses demonstrates the error to have been an excess of 904 in the population of Montreal. This has been corrected so as to bring the tables into harmony.

To the Census of Newfoundland, deposited in the Archives in Paris, are often added lists of French ships trading with that Island. The list of 1711 contains the names of 33 ships fitted out from the Bay of Biscay, and the ports of Nantes, St. Malo, Granville and Marseilles. For 1712 the lists give 24 merchant ships from the ports of France, 14 ships from the port of Quebec and 5 privateers returned from the southern Isles.

A statement of the population of New France, for the year 1714, deposited in the Archives of Paris, gives the following information: Men, 3,042; women, 2,931; boys, 6,680; girls, 6,311.—Total population 18,964.

NOTE.—Le Recensement de la Nouvelle-France de 1706 offre, entre le tableau de la population par localités et le tableau de la population par âges, un défaut de concordance. L'examen des recensements antérieurs et postérieurs a démontré que l'erreur était en excès de 904, sur la population de Montréal; en conséquence l'erreur a été corrigée et la concordance rétablie.

Aux Recensements de Terreneuve, déposés aux Archives de Paris, sont souvent ajoutés des listes des navires français, faisant le commerce avec cette Ile. La liste de 1711 contient les noms de 33 navires armés dans la Baie de Biscaye et les ports de Nantes, St. Malo, Granville et Marseilles. Pour 1712, les listes donnent 24 navires de commerce des ports de France, 14 navires du port de Québec et 5 corsaires venant des Iles du Sud.

Un état de population de la Nouvelle-France, pour l'année 1714, déposé aux Archives de Paris, donne les renseignements suivants: Hommes 3,042, Femmes 2,931, Garçons 6,680, Filles 6,311.—Total de la population 18,964.

NOTE.—This Census, it is believed, is the most exact which had been taken up to that period. A manuscript copy of it is in possession of the Quebec Historical Society.

At the time this Census was taken, there were only 750 men of the King's troops in the Colony. Of these 160 were scattered in distant Forts, and 60 were engaged in an expedition against the Renards Indians. The militia of the country was reckoned at 8,000 men fit to bear arms, 6,600 of these being armed.

NOTE.—On croit ce Recensement le plus exact qui ait été fait jusqu'à cette époque. La Société Historique de Québec en possède une copie manuscrite.

On comptait dans la Colonie, à l'époque de ce recensement, seulement 750 hommes de troupes du Roi, dont 160 dispersés dans les Forts éloignés, et 60 en expédition contre les sauvages Renards. Les milices du pays comptaient 8,000 hommes en état de porter les armes, dont 6,600 étaient armés.

NOTE.- Beside what is given in the two preceding Tables, compiled from the Blue Book of 1870, concerning the quasi Census of British Columbia for that year, there are some returns of stock and crops, but palpably and wildly erroneous, and it has been thought better not to insert them.

As may be seen by the Tables, no account is taken of the Indian population, details of which are wanting.

By information drawn from different sources the population of transplanted races was estimated in 1874 to be 15,000, thus divided :—Whites 11,500 ; Chinese 3,000 ; Blacks 300 and Kanakers 200. The aboriginal population was represented by figures varying from 20,000 to 50,000.

A part of the transplanted population, being engaged in mining and lumbering operations, is subject to abrupt changes from year to year.

NOTE.—A part ce qui vient d'être donné dans les deux Tableaux ci-dessus, compilés du Livre Bleu de 1870, on trouve dans ce même document des retours des récoltes et du bétail tellement et si certainement incorrects qu'on a cru mieux faire de ne les point publier ici.

Comme on le voit, on ne tient pas compte, dans ces Tableaux, de la population sauvage sur laquelle les détails manquent.

Des renseignements empruntés à diverses sources évaluaient, en 1874, la population des races implantées au chiffre de 15,000, ainsi partagé :—Blancs 11,500 ; Chinois 3,000 ; Noirs 300 et Kanaks 200. La population de race aborigène était diversement représentée par des chiffres qui varient de 20,000 à 50,000.

Une partie de la population implantée, étant engagée dans les opérations minières et forestières, est sujette à de brusques changements d'année en année.

ais, que l'enregistrement consigne ou non ces faits et les fluctuations auxquelles avires sont soumis quant à la propriété, et spécialement la propriété canadienne, rtie des registres qui la concerne n'est pas compilée et elle n'est pas mise en au dans les rapports du ministère de la marine et des pêcheries, lesquels ent purement et simplement l'addition du tonnage enregistré au Canada,—que navires appartiennent dans une proportion plus ou moins grande à des habi-ts du Canada ou à des étrangers au Canada.

Tout ceci est si clair, que je m'étonne qu'il puisse échapper à l'intelligence la s ordinaire. Les relevés de la marine contiennent une classe de renseignements, ux du recensement une autre classe ; ils ne peuvent ni se remplacer ni se con-r, et ils ne sauraient s'accorder, à moins que ce ne soit par une coïncidence te fortuite et inattendue. La seule relation qu'ils aient entre eux, c'est qu'ils se t'achent à des sujets analogues.

Les changements qui ont eu lieu, entre les deux Recensements, dans la propriété des terres dans les districts.

Naturellement, les changements qui se produisent dans l'étendue des terres sédées par les habitants de chaque district sont constants ; s'il n'en était pas si, ce serait un signe de stagnation complète dans les transactions s'exerçant sur opriété foncière, dans un pays où plusieurs millions d'acres de terre à l'état itif appartiennent à des particuliers, où des millions et des millions de terres de ouronne sont à vendre, et quand les deux recensements établissent que la pro-té privée de terres, au Canada, a véritablement subi, entre les années 1871 et 1, une augmentation de plusieurs millions d'acres.

Ce qui étonne surtout les critiques, c'est que dans plusieurs districts l'étendue terres possédées est moindre en 1881 qu'elle n'était en 1871, et énormément plus ble dans quelques-uns. Mais les chiffres du Recensement sont tout simplement xpression de faits dont le raisonnement seul démontre l'existence nécessaire. est précisément dans les districts où se trouvait anciennement la plus grande tendue de terres en friche possédées, que cette étendue doit diminuer dans de vastes proportions. Et pourquoi ? Simplement à cause des changements qui se pro-luisent dans la résidence des propriétaires ou dans les limites des districts, et parce ue ces terres devaient être vendues, et l'ont été effectivement dans une large me-ure, à des habitants d'autres districts. En 1871, la ville de Québec avait 2,632,874 cres de terres possédées, et seulement 588,117 en 1881 ; mais le comté de Québec, ui entoure la ville, n'avait que 363,727 acres possédés en 1871, et 1,078,005 en 881. Un simple déménagement de grands propriétaires, des limites de la ville au istrict voisin, explique l'énorme variation survenue dans les chiffres ; et si, allant ux informations, on apprend que des centaines de milles d'acres de terres en riche appartenant à des habitants de Québec ont été vendus à des habitants utres districts, comme l'ont été de vastes étendues situées à Anticosti, dans les ntons de l'Est, dans les seigneuries de Beaupré, Fossambault et dans plusieurs utres localités, l'étonnement tombe de lui-même.

Il est d'autres changements dus à d'autres causes que celles qui viennent d'être entionnées, par le fait que le remaniement de certaines circonscriptions électo-les, venant après le recensement de 1871, a rendu plusieurs districts de recense-ent très différents en 1881 de ce qu'ils étaient en 1871, sous le rapport du terri-oire, de la population et sous tous les autres rapports.

Donc, ici encore, ce n'est pas le Recensement qui est pris en flagrant délit de fausse tés extravagantes, etc., etc.," mais ce sont ses critiques.

Les mêmes observations s'appliquent aux lots de village, aux maisons, maga-ns, ateliers et navires ; la chose est tellement évidente, que ce serait faire insulte l'intelligence du lecteur que d'insister sur ce point et de suivre cette méthode ntaisiste de critique.

their occupants and are registered in the same district, irrespective of the m cipal limits; this occurs where there are commons, pleasure grounds and fa occupied by companies or inhabitants of a district, especially if it is of small a
It is for the same reason that products are registered in districts out of which t were got. Codfish and furs, for instance, registered in a district situate at a gr distance from waters where codfish is caught, and forests where such furs are to got: it simply means that these articles were entered where alone the inform tion could be procured, without possibility of attributing them to any other speci district. The only alternative was to take them there or omit them from th reports; great care was taken not to run the risk of duplicating them: it question, not of figures, but of the way in which to proceed under peculiar circ stances.

Besides all that, it should not be lost sight of that the areas given in the volun first are from geographical measurement, when the areas carried in the thir volume of land occupied are furnished, one by one, by the proprietors themselves hence to suppose that under any or whatever circumstances these figures should precisely correspond would be a piece of rare naiveté to say the least.

Therefore the error, fallacy, or whatever name be given to it is not chargeable to the Census, but to those who assault it.

There are Industries not at all Mentioned in some Districts.

Of course there are in very many instances, as a matter of fact, district which many industries do not exist. The critics, not taking notice of that, besi are making a confusion between a manufacture and a shop, between the indust by which a substance is made to change its form and the commercial operation which products are sold. In other instances industries do not appear under specific name for the reason explained in the introduction to the third volume, the following words: "The division of labour is not so minute here as in old
"and more populous communities, and so we find establishments grouped togethe
"as carding and shingle mills, grist and carding mill, &c., &c. It was found impossibl
"to separate one from the other, but they have been presented under the heading "to which the parties appear to attach the greatest importance." This is plain and reasonable, and was printed before any remark was ventured, from the outside on the subject.

It is in following this groundless point of criticism that a local paper remarked with indignation, that there were no stave mills credited to the County of Lambto
The fact is that the sawing and splitting of staves in this county, as in many other is mixed with the two connex industries entered as whole under the titles of sa mills or cooperage, and a proof that the industry of stave making has not bee overlooked, as regards the County of Lambton, lies in the fact that the said count is credited in the products of forests with 1,741,000 staves.

If a demonstration was wanted, per contra, of the errors in which the assault of the Census have fallen, we could find it in the commentaries of that paper the stave industry. The critic says:—"The stave industry is one of the large "in the country, and employs safely 1,000 men."

The fact is that the making of staves, instead of being one of the largest, per se, one of the smallest among the important industries of the country, and th
1,000 men, exclusively employed the whole year at stave making alone, could gl our home and foreign stave markets for several years. If the writer means, b stave industry, to combine the lumbering of the raw material and the cooper' work applied to the manufacture of staves into barrels, tubs, &c., &c., he is far sho of the mark with 1,000 men; but if he means simply stave making he is mu above the mark, being grossly in error anyhow; a state of affairs he would ha mended for himself and his readers if, instead of unjustly attacking the Census, had industriously studied it.

L'excédant d'acres de terres occupées sur la superficie dans quelques districts.

La raison et la signification en sont expliquées dans l'introduction du troisième volume, où il est dit: "Il y a exception lorsque les habitants des villes et des vil- "lages occupent et exploitent des terres situées en dehors des limites de telles loca- "lités, et sur lesquelles personne ne réside. Il arrive souvent, dans les anciens "villages et les cantons établis depuis longtemps, qu'une partie des terres occu- "pées s'étende au-delà des limites du village ou du canton." C'est très simple; on fait suivre aux acres occupés la personne de leurs occupants et ils sont enregistrés dans le même district, sans distinction de limites municipales; cela arrive dans les endroits où il y a des communes, des parterres d'agrément et des fermes occupés par des compagnies ou des habitants d'un district, surtout si leur superficie n'est pas considérable. C'est pour la même raison que des produits sont enregistrés dans des districts étrangers à leur production. Ainsi, par exemple, de la morue et des fourrures sont enregistrées dans un district très éloigné des eaux et des forêts d'où elles viennent: cela signifie simplement que ces articles ont été inscrits au seul endroit où il était possible d'en constater l'existence, sans courir le risque de les attribuer erronément à un autre district. La seule alternative qui restait était de les y porter ou de les omettre des rapports. On a pris grand soin de ne pas les inscrire en double. Ce n'est pas une question de chiffres, mais une question de savoir comment procéder dans des circonstances particulières.

Indépendamment de tout cela, il ne faut pas perdre de vue que les superficies données dans le premier volume sont le résultat de mesurages géographiques, tandis que les superficies des exploitations, données dans le troisième volume, ont été fournies par les propriétaires eux-mêmes. Par conséquent, supposer que ces chiffres devraient concorder d'une manière précise serait commettre une rare naïveté, pour ne pas dire plus.

Donc l'erreur, la fausseté, ou quel que soit le nom qu'on lui donne, n'est pas imputable au Recensement, mais bien à ceux qui l'attaquent.

Il y a des industries qui ne sont pas du tout mentionnées dans quelques districts.

Il y a, naturellement, des districts qui ne comptent pas plusieurs industries. Ne tenant pas compte de ce fait, les critiques confondent la fabrique avec le magazin, les industries qui font changer de forme à la matière première et l'opération commerciale qui écoule les produits. Dans d'autres cas, les industries ne sont pas spécialement dénommées pour la raison que l'introduction du troisième volume explique comme suit: "La division du travail n'est pas aussi minutieuse ici qu'elle l'est dans "les sociétés plus anciennes et plus populeuses, et c'est ainsi que l'on trouve "groupées ensemble différentes industries sous le nom de moulin à carder et à bar- "deaux, moulin à farine et à carder, etc., etc. Il a été impossible de les séparer, mais "elles ont été présentées sous le titre de l'industrie qui paraissait la plus impor- "tante." Ceci est simple et raisonnable, et a été imprimé avant qu'aucune observation soit venue de l'extérieur.

S'appuyant sur une erreur de ce genre, un journal de cette ville a fait observer, avec indignation, que le Recensement ne mentionnait pas les scieries de douves qui existent dans le comté de Lambton. Le fait est que la préparation des douves, en ce pays comme dans plusieurs autres, entre dans les deux industries désignées sous le titre de scieries et de tonnellerie; et une preuve que l'industrie de la fabrication des douves n'a pas été omise, en ce qui concerne le comté de Lambton, c'est qu'on a mis au crédit de ce comté 1,741,000 douves comme produits de la forêt.

Si on veut se convaincre davantage des erreurs dans lesquelles sont tombés ceux qui attaquent le Recensement, on n'a qu'à lire les commentaires de ce journal au sujet de l'industrie dont il est ici question. "L'industrie des douves, dit-il, est "une des plus importantes que nous ayons dans le pays: elle emploie au moins "1,000 hommes."

The variance between the number of Hands and the Wages paid for identical or similar Industries in different Districts.

As a matter of fact there exists differences on these points for various districts compared with others, and, of course, and correctly, the Census returns contain the expression of these differences. But there is an explanation which applies to many cases in which the difference is very large, and this explanation is given in the introduction to the third volume in the following words:—

"It may be remarked that in many establishments the workmen are not "regularly employed, nor during the whole year." Thence the difference between the aggregate of wages, and of work done, as compared with the number of hands employed.

But I admit that errors are to be found in the Census on that point in a few instances; they, however, do not materially influence the aggregate results. A few of these are errors of enumeration, the parties being careless in furnishing the correct information, and a few errors which have escaped the attention of the proof readers.

There are districts credited with products they do not furnish, and others not credited with products the raw materials of which they do possess.

Of course there are districts which manufacture some of their raw materials; many manufacture the raw materials of other districts, and even of foreign countries, and many do not manufacture their own or any other materials at all, except in common trades. But let us quote one of the critics, for example, on this complicated question; he says:—"The County of Jacques Cartier produced 150,000 cubic "feet of square white pine, though no one can tell where it grew, while the Coun- "ties of Kamouraska, L'Islet, Montmagny, Bellechasse, Beauce, Stanstead, Brome, "Huntingdon, Beauharnois, Montmorency, Joliette, Laval and Hochelaga did not "produce 1,200 feet of square pine of any sort among them all." These critics are not severe on themselves. It is in this way that they give the production of that list of counties as being less than actually found in the Census; but this is a venial sin and not worth mentioning, except as example of want of scrupulous exactitude when bitterly criticising the work of others.

The explanation of the above mentioned data is as simple as it is easy. The figures of the Census mean that a quantity of square pine has been registered in Jacques Cartier, because it was worked in Jacques Cartier, and found impossible to attribute it to any specific district of production. The other mentioned districts can be distributed into two categories—one comprising those which have produced no pine for consumption or export and have not squared any of an unknown origin; the other category is composed of such districts as choose to turn their pine into boards and deals, instead of making it into squared timber. Here again, therefore, it is not the Census, but the critics, who are at fault, for not knowing and refusing to be informed of the intricacies of subjects and the state of the country as regards production and other peculiar circumstances.

The little Village of Shawville, in Pontiac, is returned as a large producer of grain, &c.

The explanation of that case, represented as positively desperate, is nevertheless neither very intricate nor difficult of comprehension. The Township of Clarendon was divided into two sub-districts, e being Clarendon South, or Shawville, as often times mentioned under the name of this village, and f, Clarendon North. The consistent figures seen in all the Census tables, as relate to this sub-district, do at once indicate, to any intelligent and honestly disposed reader of the
